LISBON, Portugal (AP) — At least 27 persons were hospitalized Tuesday night and scores were had failed to muster support arrested in turbulent May Day riots in Lisbon, the capital, and clashes between security forces Oporto, Portugal's second city 175 miles to the northeast.

The regime had banned May Day demonstrations after the appearance of antigovernment leaflets signed "Duarte," the pseudonym of Alvaro Cunhal, general secretary of the outlawed Portuguese Communist party.

Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's dictatorship claimed the demonstrations—the most violent in years—were part of a Communist two years in Moscow.

Proposes Earlier Release From Service On Occupational Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Immediate release for persons in seasonal occupations who were called to active military duty last year was suggested today by Rep. Ben Reifel, R-S.D.

He wrote Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr that such action would be in line with a provision to grant releases to such persons 90 days in advance of their one-year tour of duty.

Noting that the general release date for Reservists and National Guardsmen was moved up to Aug. 1 last week, Reifel suggested that the 90-day provision be applied to this rather than the original fall date.

Such action, he said, would make these persons eligible for release immediately.

Panel Urges More Power To Curb National Strikes

Advisory Group Proposes Authority for President to Order Cooling-Off Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential advisory panel has recommended giving government more power to deal with national emergency labor strikes.

For one thing, the President would have the authority to halt such strikes for an 80-day cooling-off period without obtaining court injunctions. Fact-finding groups appointed by the President would be empowered to suggest settlement terms.

These were the major recommendations in a report handed President Kennedy Tuesday night by his labor-management advisers. If enacted by Congress they would upset provisions of the 15-year-old Taft-Hartley law.

Kennedy, calling the findings highly meaningful and significant, congratulated the 21-man committee and promised to give the proposals serious consideration in drafting his own recommendations for Congress.

Propose Law Revision

The advisory group made up of seven representatives each from industry, labor unions and the public—called for broad revision of Taft-Hartley law procedures for handling big strikes that threaten the nation's health or safety.

Among the committee members only one industry man, automaker Henry Ford II, dissented from the proposed emergency strike changes. Ford said the present law has worked remarkably well and it would be both unjustified and unwise to give fact-finding boards power to recommend labor dispute settlement terms.

Such industry men as Chairman Joseph L. Block of Inland Steel and John M. Franklin of U.S. Lines and Presidents Richard S. Reynolds Jr. of Reynolds Metals and Thomas S. Watson of International Business Machines Corp. went along with the plan for overhauling big strike procedures.

Dinner on Yacht
Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, the advisory committee chairman, later took the group aboard a White House yacht, the Sequoia, for dinner. He remarked that the occasion ought to demonstrate that those having predicted an early demise of the labor-management committee were dead wrong.

Highlights of the report:
1. Emergency dispute boards named by the President not only could recommend settlement terms, they could also call for in-

NATO Leaders Will Appraise Nuclear Policy

Foreign, Defense
Ministers Start
Athens Sessions

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Foreign and defense ministers of the Atlantic Alliance gathered here today to appraise NATO nuclear policy, the Berlin situation and East-West relations.

Foremost among the problems facing the 15 nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was the delicate question of control of nuclear weapons, now essentially in the hands of the United States.

U.S. officials expect no agreement to emerge on the various proposals for a NATO strike force armed with American nuclear weapons. They hope some progress will be made.

The chief point at issue is the question of conditions under which the nuclear weapons would be ordered into action and what veto the allies would have over the firing orders.

Details on U.S. Arsenal
Secretary of State Dean Rusk reportedly will offer the NATO allies detailed information on the numbers, types, general capability and potential use of weapons in the U.S. nuclear arsenal. The Kennedy administration reportedly hopes the information will reassure the allies and ease the pressure from some of them—particularly West Germany—for speedy creation of NATO's own nuclear force.

The nuclear issue will be discussed first by the defense ministers at a meeting Thursday. The foreign ministers begin their meeting Friday. The session concludes Sunday.

On the Berlin question the alliance is expected to close ranks once again—despite an undercur-

Stahr Quits as Army's Chief to Head Indiana U

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Elvis J. Stahr Jr., educational administrator now serving as secretary of the Army, has been elected president of Indiana University. It was announced today.

He will take office July 1, succeeding Dr. Herman B. Wells, president of I. U. for 25 years.

Announcement of the selection was made by William Hickman, president of the university trustees, on the 142nd anniversary of the founding of the university.

The resignation of Stahr as secretary of the Army, effective June 30, was announced at the same time at the White House in Washington.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson congratulates Dwight D. Eisenhower after the former president's speech at the Eisenhower Library dedication ceremonies in Abilene, Kan. Tuesday. In the center is Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan.

Ike Deplores Vulgarity in Modern Life

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower compared American scientific and material gains in this century with "the vulgarity, the sensuality, indeed the downright filth," and said, "I wonder if we have advanced."

Speaking Tuesday at the dedication of the $3-million Eisenhower Library here, the former president asked, "What has happened to our concepts of beauty, decency and morality?"

Eisenhower was disdainful of some trends in modern art and entertainment. He referred to the new dance craze, the twist, saying he did not personally dislike it but "it does represent some change in our standards."

Old Standards Lacking
The former president called for a return to the standards and values of pioneer America.

He said the only danger to the United States "is in forgetting our glory, our traditions, our history, our ideals and aspirations so that we allow our fiber to weaken."

A crowd of several thousand persons stood in a hot sun to hear Eisenhower speak. Earlier about

GOP Seeks Unity On Medical Care

Kennedy and AMA Fail to Clear Way for Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans try today to patch together a measure of party unity

After a seven-member AMA delegation spent about an hour with Kennedy, Dr. Leonard W. Larson, head of the group, and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff said there was no change in positions.

Kennedy argued for his bill and Dr. Edward R. Annis, chairman of the AMA Speakers' Bureau, made the doctors' opposition case.

Test Vote in Senate
This left the Republicans in something of a quandary. Many of them dislike voting for a proposal the AMA has tabbed as "socialized medicine." But few of them want to be put in a position where they can be accused by election opponents of ignoring the needs of older voters.

GOP senators know that, whatever happens in the House, they are going to face a test vote on the issue in this session of Congress. Administration leaders now talk of getting House action on their measure. But if they don't, it is certain to be offered as a

Long Debate Predicted

Private Control of Global Space Relay Stations Up in House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ship of the satellite corporation, stock to be split 50-50 between House today takes up a bill that says the bill represents a give-and-take compromise to revolutionize world communications.

It would set up a new kind of semiprivate corporation to control a global network of space satellite relay stations, eventually capable of instantly flashing telegraph and voice messages and even television pictures anywhere around the earth.

Long Debate Indicated
The future potential of this starting concept may be gauged by the amount of controversy the bill already has generated. A long debate was scheduled, and the House may not complete consideration of the bill today.

Eventual passage does not seem in doubt, however. Bipartisan support was assured the measure Tuesday when the House Republican Policy Committee issued a statement in favor of the bill as "the appropriate vehicle to speed the development of this system."

Salinger's Planned Visit to Russia Sign Of East-West 'Thaw'

White House Press Secretary Meets Red Bureaucrats May 11

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Plump, cigar-smoking Pierre Salinger and the Moscow bureaucrats are about to get their first look at each other.

The White House press secretary has announced that he will arrive in the Soviet Union on May 11 for a visit of four or five days.

The fact that the trip is coming off on schedule is taken as another indication that tensions between the Soviet Union and the United States have been reduced, despite the resumption of atmospheric nuclear testing by the United States.

that they postponed the television exchange. It was supposed to have taken place in March and is now vaguely planned for "late this year."

First Visit

Salinger said that if the Russians "show any interest at all in discussing this project," he will be glad to take it up with them.

His visit, which will be his first to the Soviet Union, is in response to an invitation issued by Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia. The invitation was extended during Adzhubei's visit to the White

Named 'Plucky'
But just how much "Plucky," as his friends call Salinger, will be able to accomplish remains debatable.

One possibility could be a resumption of plans for a "joint" television appearance by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Under this project, Mr. Kennedy and Khrushchev would each make a filmed 15-minute television speech. Then copies of the films would be exchanged, and the two televised speeches would be broadcast in each country on

U. S. Army Men Say Treatment By Reds Okay

Bound for 22 Days, But Fed Regularly by Viet Cong Guerrillas

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two American Army sergeants released by Communist guerrillas said the Reds kept them bound during their 22 days of captivity but fed them regularly on rice. They said they suffered no brutality.

Sgt. Francis Quinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and George E. Groom of St. Joseph, Mo., freed in what appeared to be a May Day gesture, looked weary from their ordeal but in good shape otherwise as they arrived in Saigon by plane Tuesday night.

Denied Reports

Denying reports they had been led through villages as propaganda exhibits, they told interrogating officers they were held the entire 22 days atop a mountain near where they were captured April 8.

Still wearing the camouflage uniforms and berets of the Army Special Forces, they were released less than five miles from the spot outside the coastal town of Da Nang where they were ambushed with two other American soldiers and 31 Vietnamese trainees.

The other Americans, Sgt. Wayne E. Marchand of Plattsmouth, Neb., and Spec. 5 James Gabriel of Honolulu were wounded. Their bodies later found two miles from the ambush scene.

Apparently Murdered

Quinn and Groom said they had carried their wounded comrades for more than a mile until the Viet Cong guerrillas ordered them put down. They said they did not witness the final moments of the two, who apparently were murdered because they were slowing the Viet Cong escape.

The sergeants said the Communists gave no reason for freeing them. After their release it took 2 1/2 hours to make their way down the mountainside, led by a 25,000 lined the streets of Abilene's business district to greet him.

The library, built with private funds, will house Eisenhower's presidential papers. It is across the street from the house where the former president spent his boyhood.

Dignitaries attending the dedication included Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Eisenhower's three brothers, and five former members of his Cabinet.

President Kennedy sent a statement praising the library as a cultural asset.

Eisenhower and his wife left Abilene aboard a special railroad car for their home in Gettysburg, Pa.

Milwaukee Youth Found Dead in Lake Michigan

GRAFTON, Wis. (AP)—The fully clothed body of a Milwaukee youth was found floating just offshore in Lake Michigan near the family cottage Tuesday.

Mrs. Margie Hubbard told police she went out looking for her 20-year-old son, John, after he failed to return from a walk earlier in the day.

An autopsy was planned to determine whether the youth drowned or fell from a high bluff above the spot where his body was found.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Veterans Administration Hospital and auxiliary buildings in Waukegan, Wis., have been sold to James R. Lowe and Caldwell R. Keyser of Waukegan for $136,000.

The General Services Administration regional office announced the sale in Chicago Tuesday.

The property consists of 12 1/2 acres, improved with a main hospital building and 15 auxiliary structures.

It's Emmy Time Again

Judy Garland, Queen Show Lead in TV Race

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's Queen Victoria against Judy Garland—TV set 54 and CBS-TV 45. In the dramatic field, "Victoria Regina" promised to make a sweep similar to that of last season's "Machbeth." The Harris vehicle scored in seven categories.

In addition to the program members of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences will decide who will win the coveted awards at a May 22 telecast.

The 137 nominations—for 26 categories—were announced Tuesday.

Judy in Lead

Leading contenders for the 1961-62 Program of the Year honors are Judy Garland and the "Victoria Regina" biography of Queen Victoria, which starred Julie Harris. Miss Garland won a bid for her Feb. 25 special.

Ben Casey, ABC's young surgeon, won eight nominations, including a nod for the young star, Vincent Edwards.

Many of the famous old names of television—Jack Benny, Robert Young, Bob Hope and Dinah Shore—didn't get a tumble. A lot of eager youngsters skyrocketed into the top competition.

There was an emphasis on the documentary, news and public affairs program. Of the five Program of the Year nominees, three were in this area: "Biography of a Bookie Joint," "Vincent Van Gogh," and "Walk In My Shoes," a study of racial integration.

The ABC-TV network emerged Dick Powell Show and "Naked as a top contender. Last year the City."

2. There would be a legal obligation to follow presidential stay-at-work orders for 30-day cooling-off periods—without court injunctions as now. This adopts the long-time voluntary compliance procedures contained in the separate Railway Labor Act dealing with rail and airline disputes.

Broader Government Role

3. The emergency procedures could be applied to only part of an industry, if that were practicable. In the past the law has been invoked generally over entire industries.

4. The present procedure of submitting an employer's final offer to employees for their approval would be eliminated as ineffective. Workers have never voted acceptance of such an offer. Ford agreed with this.

Although many businessmen, following the government's role in the recent steel wage and price controversy, have criticized federal intervention in such matters, the advisory committee said a broader government role in emergency bargaining situations is necessary.

"Insistence on the welfare of vast numbers of our citizens who are not directly concerned in these disputes is involved, and the economy of the country is often adversely affected," the report said, "we conclude there is a clear need for more effective governmental action under existing circumstances."

The committee laid aside a hot dispute between its labor and management members—over whether labor unions exercise monopoly powers that should be curbed by law—for future study.

Proxmire Hits Critics of U.N.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Tuesday night that recent senatorial criticism of the United Nations is reminiscent of the actions that led to the downfall of the League of Nations in the 1920s.

Proxmire said some of his colleagues have diverted attention from U.N. accomplishments and have voiced pessimism over possible future drawbacks in U.N. membership.

These men are devoted to the best interests of the country, he said, but—as in the case of the League of Nations—"they are performing a similar grim disservice to the cause of world order."

Jury Named as Trial Starts in Murder Case

SPARTA (AP)—A 12-man Circuit Court jury was named Tuesday to hear the first degree murder trial of former short order cook Thomas Greer. One male alternate also was chosen.

Greer, 23, of Tomah, is charged in the gunshot slaying last October of his employer, Delores Parkinson, 36, owner of a restaurant in Tomah.

Judge Lincoln Negrud is presiding.

GOP Senators Seek Unity on Medical Care

As matters stand, Republicans up for reelection this year are divided on approaches to the problem.

Dirksen, running in Illinois, wants to give the Kerr Mills bill enacted previously another year of operation before any changes are made. Under this measure, the federal government matches state funds for medical care of those who pass a needs test.

Javits Proposal

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, up for reelection in New York, supports the Social Security approach with modifications. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, running in California, goes along with Javits' general ideas.

Javits would finance medical care primarily through the Social Security system. But his bill would provide for benefits, financed out of general government revenues, for persons not covered by Social Security.

He also would provide for payments of up to $100 a year on private medical insurance. He would exclude aid to persons already receiving federal assistance and those with annual incomes of $3,000 or more.

Kennedy's bill would make no distinction in income. Opponents have contended the rich as well as the needy would benefit from it.

There are some indications the

State Native to Get Citation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Albert D. Lasker, a University of Wisconsin graduate and a native of Watertown, Wis., has been named winner of the distinguished Service Award of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

The announcement of her selection for the award, made at Washington Tuesday, said that Mrs. Lasker had given a tremendous impetus through the years by helping the handicapped and providing for medical research in cancer, heart disease, mental illness and other major killers and cripples.

Mrs. Lasker, who now resides in New York, is president of the Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation which she and her husband established in 1942. It carries on philanthropic activities.

rent of uneasiness—behind U.S. efforts to find some basis for a loose confederation in which the French and all other members would have a veto over all political decisions. Belgium and the Netherlands urge more of a federal system, with surrender of some national sovereignty to the supranational body and some matters decided by majority vote.

Want Britain Included

To counter the close alliance between French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the Belgians and the Dutch have been pressing to have Britain admitted to the talks on political union even though the British application for membership in the Common Market is still under negotiation.

France and West Germany refused a British overture to participate in the political talks, and the Belgians and the Dutch told the other Common Market nations at a meeting in mid-April they would never sign a treaty of political union until Britain was a member of the organization.

No Bias in Hiring, State Tells Schools

Teachers Covered
By Law Prohibiting
Work Discrimination

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — In a low-keyed memorandum, the state department of public instruction has reminded local school administrators that the laws prohibiting discrimination in employment apply to them as they recruit for their school staffs for next fall.

Most of the school officials are now receiving applications for teaching vacancies for the next school year, said a bulletin of the state supervisory agency, which added that the local schools "are urged to analyze carefully all candidates for a teaching position solely on the basis of individual qualifications and merit."

Cancelled Appointment
The department bulletin disclosed that a local superintendent recently cancelled an appointment with a teaching job applicant when he discovered the job-seeker was a Negro.

The state fair employment practices division, on being informed of the incident, "set about through conference to eliminate the discriminatory practice."

"The young woman has now been recontacted and an interview is in the offing. Her appointment is assured unless some very valid reason for not doing so presents itself at the time of the interview," the state office publication continued.

Such occurrences can be avoided, schoolmen were told, if they become informed about the state law and its purposes.

Alderman From Kaukauna to Run For Legislature

KAUKAUNA—Arnold J. Vander Loop, 225 Maria St., has announced his intention to run on the Democratic ticket in the September primary election as candidate for the state assembly from the Second district.

Born and raised in Little Chute, Vander Loop moved to Vander Loop Kaukauna in 1921. He is presently in his fourth term as alderman from the First Ward. He is chairman of the public protection and safety committee, chairman of the board of public works, recording secretary of the Kaukauna Central Labor Council and recording secretary of the International Association of Machinists Local 474.

He is married and the father of eight children, four boys and four girls. Six are married while two daughters remain at home. He was in business for himself for 20 years and now is employed at the G. G. and Lewis Machine Tool Co. Kaukauna division.

Vander Loop attended Little Chute schools, and the University of Wisconsin Extension Division. A veteran of city politics, this will be his first attempt for a state post.

Financing Political Campaigns

How to finance political campaigns and at the same time keep elections above suspicion has been a problem for the American people since the beginning of the republic. It still is unsolved although a report of the President's commission on campaign costs, recently filed, offers suggestions which may enable us to improve present methods.

The combined expenditures for the Democratic and Republican campaigns in 1960 totaled $123 million. The combined deficit was approximately $4.6 million with about $28 million charged against the Democratic party. For all campaigns, local, state and national, it is estimated that $175 million was raised by voluntary contributions.

The President's commission, which was composed of both Democrats and Republicans, searched for means which would encourage more people to help finance presidential campaigns by voluntary contributions to political parties. To accomplish this the commission proposed a series of measures designed to increase public confidence in the way campaigns are financed and also to instill public respect for the system of legal regulation affecting political finances. It also recommended measures intended to reduce presidential campaign costs.

Although the committee was divided almost equally between the parties, the final recommendations, after six months' study, were unanimous.

The principal incentive to giving proposed by the commission is to grant tax exemptions for contributions to national campaign committees. While the commission confined its work strictly to presidential campaigns it has suggested that similar programs could be worked out at state or local levels. To encourage individuals and private organizations, including corporations and labor unions, to undertake voluntary bipartisan political activity, the commission proposes that reasonable contributions from these groups also be tax deductible.

The commission proposed further that the present federal limits on receipts and expenditures of interstate political committees, and on the amounts individuals can contribute to such committees, be repealed. It was proposed to replace such ceilings with a system of disclosure and publicity to reveal where the money comes from and where it goes. Strict limitations are placed upon the amounts of contributions by individuals and also upon the manner of giving. All is intended to make possible complete understandable reports of all contributions. All political committees campaigning for candidates for president or vice president, and raising or spending as much as $2,500 in a year, would be required to file periodic campaign fund statements. Individuals and families contributing or spending $5,000 or more in the aggregate in connection with the nomination or election campaign of one or more candidates for president or vice president would be required to make full reports to be filed with a federal agent charged with the duty of effectively publicizing the reports.

As the commission pointed out, one of the great difficulties in providing adequate support for financial campaigns has been "the lurking suspicion that contributing to political parties is somehow a shoddy business." The commission has tried to find workable proposals which will encourage a great many Americans to contribute and to permit the individual giver to have free choice as to the candidate his money shall serve. In the past, many proposals have been made to have the United States Treasury make direct contributions to those who qualify as candidates for president or vice president. These proposals, however, have not appealed to the American people who believe that the actual contributing is a form of voting in that it tends to put forward the candidate the donors favor.

Although the commission had the benefit of advice from a great many people, including former presidents and vice presidents and former candidates for those offices, as well as the advice of many departments of the federal government, and the benefit of reports and hearings of committees of the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives, the proposals must be regarded as mere suggestions which in all probability will be modified by Congress before any laws are enacted.

Nevertheless, the commission has offered an interesting basis for study and probably a real effective beginning for solving campaign financing. The commission has proposed that its plan be tried for two presidential campaigns and that it then be restudied and perhaps modified in the light of the experience the government will have had.

Our Overseas Business

Northeastern Wisconsin, as represented by the nine counties in the Congressional district, receive more than $20 million a year from export trade. The figures are from the United States Department of Commerce and serve to indicate again the importance of Green Bay as a port on the St. Lawrence Seaway and point to future developments which most certainly will be marked by a great expansion in foreign trade.

The exported articles came largely from the cities of Green Bay, DePere, Marinette, Viroqua, Two Rivers, Laona, Appleton and Kaukauna. The manufactured products were worth $15 million produced by 26 firms employing 11,000 workers. That is approximately one-fourth of all the industrial employees in the district. The agricultural products exported from the Eighth District were valued at $5.5 million including $1.8 million worth of dairy products. It is estimated that about 1,500 of the area's 32,000 agricultural workers or about five per cent of them were needed to produce the agricultural products exported.

The Change of Time

Get a bit confused when daylight saving time started Sunday, did you?

But by now you and your neighbors have your clocks synchronized and everything's under control.

Wisconsin is lucky—everybody in the state is on the same time.

Ponder though, the situation existing in Oregon. Take the city of Eugene, home of the University of Oregon.

Oregon has local option—communities can go on daylight saving time if they wish. The city of Eugene, apparently, decided not to go on fast time.

However, the University of Oregon decided that it would operate in daylight time. The result?

If it isn't chaos, at least it's a king-sized

During 1961 the Green Bay port handled cargoes moving directly overseas totaling 67,624 tons valued at approximately $10.5 million.

For the state of Wisconsin, foreign exports were valued at about $476 million in 1960. This included about $411 million worth of manufactured goods and $65 million worth of farm products. The state was thirteenth in the nation in its manufactured exports. All of this indicates that the St. Lawrence Seaway is truly making a third seacoast of the Great Lakes and particularly of Lake Michigan. Legislation being considered in Washington in the form of the trade expansion bill and trade agreements act undoubtedly will contribute further to the expanding foreign trade in this area. As this trade grows it can be fully expected that the viewpoint of citizens in this area on the matter of foreign trade will change. At present it is estimated that approximately two-thirds of American imports are noncompetitive with American products. So long as that ratio is maintained the advantage of expanding foreign trade is quite obvious.

Farm Picture Doesn't Make Sense to Anyone

From The Anderson (S.C.) Independent

Painting in the country, the artist discovered that he had a spectator — a farmer from the neighborhood.

"Ah!" exclaimed the artist. "Perhaps you too are a lover of the exquisite beauties of nature. Have you seen the golden fingers of dawn spreading across your eastern sky, the red-stained, sulphurous islets floating in the lake of fire in the west, the ragged clouds at midnight blotting out the shuddering moon?" The farmer considered. He shook his head and answered. "Nope, not lately. I've been on the wagon for over a year."

People's Forum

Can't Understand Need for Three Jet Airports in Area

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Mr. Titus Heigl's letter of April 27 to the People's Forum seems to require an answer from me, inasmuch as I was singled out by him as an opponent of progress. Is it possible Mr. Heigl's apparent fanaticism has unwittingly made him a tool of the Chamber of Commerce or whatever pressure groups insist there has to be three large jet-age airports at 40 mile or less intervals?

Mr. Heigl's letter states a referendum eighteen years ago favored an airport, but it was not binding on the county board. I did not know that, but if such is the case, it is feasible a new referendum might be a waste of time and money. However, isn't it possible the county board could agree to abide by the decision of a referendum beforehand if it so desired? An overwhelming vote one way or another could be a determining factor. We should not be afraid of a referendum.

Mr. Heigl also talks about the $50,000 already spent on a survey that would be lost money if there would be no new airport. The simplest answer to that naturally is that $50,000 is a far cry from the millions the new airport itself would cost. A good many people in our county are asking, "Is it necessary? Is it practical?" That is all.

It does not seem wise to see three airports flouting for sur-

Teen-Agers Should Aid Youth Center

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Good for the teen-agers who expressed themselves in their letter to the editor published in Sunday's paper—good for them to speak out; good for we, adults to listen.

How revealing and sad to learn that today's teen-agers need a "second home"! Doubtless a coke at home never tastes as good as one with the gang at "a spot," or bringing the gang home for fun is never as interesting as gathering elsewhere with the mob.

It would seem that the experts agree that we need a community center with special emphasis on activities for 12-15 year olds —so let's get with it!

But—how about these teen-agers showing us how badly they want a teen-center, no more hand outs for a ready-made building—let's earn our way for the fun things of life!

Here are just a few suggestions for some work projects for our youth to do en masse to begin to earn the cost of a new building. Perhaps our Mayor could appoint an Adult-Youth Committee to organize a campaign for "earnings" by the kids and matched donations by we "oldsters":

1. Block fairs with fun games and eats.
2. Back yard neighborhood baby sitting with youth watchers over a group of wading pools. (What fun!)
3. Window washing. (What housewife wouldn't love getting the outside windows washed for a nominal fee.)
4. Car and boat washing.
5. Rummage sales.
6. Garden weeding.
7. Short hiking and picnic trips for children.
8. Baseball clinics for the real little fellows too small for league play, etc.

Commends Good Friday, Easter Color Pictures

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Each time I see the front page of the Good Friday and Easter Sunday editions of the Appleton Post-Crescent I am thrilled and delighted again to view the most beautiful color reproductions of our church windows depicting our divine Savior's crucifixion and his resurrection. The editors and also the photographer deserve much praise and thanks! He also did wonders with the nativity scene at Christmas time.

I do hope to see more; and accompanied with editorials such as the P-C "Easter Message," our sick world could be saved from the enemy which makes free use of all departments of "art" and "thought" to degrade mankind. The saddest part is the fact that "the best, when corrupted, become the worst." It is like the April 23 editorial saying: "And the devil said to Simon Legree, 'I like your style so wicked and free.'" And who could deny that. "Our youth are being corrupted through a clever plan involving sexy books, socialist texts, and bikini bathing suits!"

I also saved the beautiful picture of Jesus in the Easter Sunday edition "The Good Old Days." Keep it up! Keep reminding us of "how divine man himself is, and how certain the future—that there is no death in the total sense."

No Surprise in State Spending Forecasts

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is not altogether clear why the testimony of Wallace Lemon, of the state department of administration, about the probable rise in state expenditures during the next two years was given such heavy display in the news dispatches last week.

For with the most elementary understanding of the facts of state government fiscal operations any private citizen could have come up with the same result.

Mr. Lemon is an accountant, presumably skilled in his profession. But he is not a prophet. He is no better qualified to predict events than the most backward member of the state legislature. Nor was he doing so. He was merely suggesting the likelihood that the rate of expansion of governmental services and governmental spending in Wisconsin that has been established for many past budget periods is going to continue.

There has been a rise of about 20 per cent per period for a long time. There is no reason to doubt that what has happened under Democratic and Republican auspices since World War II will not continue. Yet the members of the legislative committee gaped in astonishment and alarm as he recited the probabilities, which may suggest something about their attentiveness or their memory for the relevant facts of their jobs.

ON THE LOW SIDE

Actually, the director of the bureau of finance was being conservative, as probably befits a man of his occupation.

He was not taking into account the very strong probability that the increase in outlay from the ports practically to our doorsteps. Yes, recognition of progress is one thing. And economy as opposed to waste is another.

And finally, it is possible Mr. Heigl and I both are creating a smoke-screen for a good many other pros and cons that should come to the attention of the voters and the County Board of Supervisors.

A decision is expected soon. I only hope it will be a Solomon-like decision. I have no axes to grind and will bear no ill will toward anyone, regardless of the outcome. Please Mr. Titus Heigl, try to feel the same way.

Looking Backward

Union Armies Advance in South

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for May 3, 1862.

The news which comes from New Orleans from several rebel sources is deemed of the utmost importance in Washington. What England has failed to do has been accomplished by New England.

The manner in which the successes at Fort Jackson and St. Philip was followed up is highly praised. In 30 hours our men consummated their victory and appeared before New Orleans.

The army passed Fort Jackson at 4 o'clock April 24 (the reference was to the Union army) When the news reached New Orleans the excitement was boundless. Martial law was put in full force and business suspended. All the cotton and steamboats except those necessary to transport corn and ammunition were destroyed.

The Mobile Tribune says that the cotton at Giles and Murray Counties in Northern Alabama has been burned and is being burned as Union troops approach. Scott's Louisiana cavalry do the work, in most cases with the hearty consent of the owners.

The Charleston Christian Advocate says the Florida planters are also mowing their cotton in open fields, so as to be able to burn it in case of necessity.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 28, 1937

Miss Verna Pfund, Appleton, was a member of the Oshkosh State Teachers' College A Cappella Choir that toured the southern part of the state. Miss Pfund was a sophomore in the department of elementary education.

Miss Gladys Ives Brinard, professor of piano at Lawrence Conservatory was presented with the ring of excellence, the highest honor of the musical society, Sigma Alpha Iota. Two students initiated into the group were Miss Celia Jensen, Neenah, and Miss Marian Gerlach, Weyauwega.

Elected officers of the newly organized boys' and girls' bicycle club at New London were Helen Baker, president; Betty Gottschalk, vice president, and Arlene Nelson, secretary. Hubert Nelson was chosen val-editorian of the 1937 graduating class of Menasha High School with the role of salutatorian going to Robert Gaverki. Both boys had been at the head of their high school classes all four years.

In Waupaca, Paul Thatcher was elected president of the newly formed Good Government League. The Rev. G. N. Doady was named vice president and Robert Borst secretary and treasurer.

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 30, 1952

George Akin, Hortonville High School principal, was one of the 10 state educators and farmers who received honorary Wisconsin Farmer Awards at the state FHA convention in Green Lake.

Miss Gladys Ives Brinard, professor of piano at Lawrence Conservatory was presented with the ring of excellence, the highest honor of the musical society, Sigma Alpha Iota. Two students initiated into the group were Miss Celia Jensen, Neenah, and Miss Marian Gerlach, Weyauwega.

Three St. John High School students named to Badger Boys and Girls States were James Lucy, Don Ourada and Barbara Wildenberg.

state treasury during the next two years will be even higher than the ratio of increases recorded in the past.

He was assuming that the present aid formulas, the present scope of services, would be continued, taking into account growth in case loads in the institutions, the schools and the other costly services.

Yet the record is also clear that legislatures tend to permit a gradual addition to the list of public services, and are especially prone to do so when there is money available. With the relaxation of tax prejudices that held the state bound for so long, and the prospect for another broadening of the tax base in the 1963 legislature, it will be extremely difficult to throttle the tendency to give in to the eternally active spending pressure groups.

THE TAXPAYING TROUGH

This is a difficult era for the adult earning, tax-paying citizen of Wisconsin. Not only is the public conception of the proper role of government constantly being enlarged, but the taxpayer is caught in a statistical bind. There are fewer of his kind in the general population than ever before, and more of the public service beneficiaries than ever before.

The child population is exploding, and shows no sign of stabilizing. The results are shown in skyrocketing local budgets, and the promise of pressure upon state university and college budgets that are breathtaking. The population of the aged, in proportion to the total, is gradually rising also. But the productive population, between the ages of 18 and 65, is virtually stationary as a proportion of the whole.

These are fairly evident explanations of the fiscal pressure that will continue for a long time before it is relieved and that inevitably spell more drastic tax adjustments in the years ahead. Legislators who have held office for a while, least of all, should be surprised, although they can be excused for being worried.

Even this column's writer, however, finds it hard to remember how it used to be in making the state budget. Only 25 years ago, for example, the state government in its entirety was being supported on a smaller annual expenditure than the annual rate of increase that is regarded as minimum today.

Rescue the Rescuer

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Vickie Deaton climbed a tree to rescue a cat. The cat climbed down. Firemen rescued Vickie from her perch some 30 feet up the tree.

Delton Roehm, Appleton, and James Brandt, New London, were among the 69 University of Wisconsin students elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honor society.

Miss Lucille Enzshimmens, kindergarten teacher, was elected president of the Appleton Education Association. Other officers elected for the year included Roland Werten, vice president, Mrs. Audrey Lemke, secretary, and James Cowan, treasurer.

Miss Bernice Breckman was chosen to succeed Mrs. Russell Peterson as president of the Appleton Chammade Chorus. Others elected to office were Mrs. Norman Terrow, vice president, Miss Marie Pentz, secretary, Miss Marie Sternberger, treasurer, and Mrs. Dennis Kles and Miss Ruth Rechner, directors. Mrs. Gordon Birkholz served as toastmistress of the dinner.

Harmon McCarthy, Neenah, was named president of the Wisconsin Retail Jewelers Association.

backed him up. It said that collective bargaining must be free but it must also be responsive to the public interest.

Collective bargaining has never been absolutely free in this country since the passage of the Wagner Labor Act in 1935. For instance, that law said employers must bargain with a union representing its employees.

So a company was not free not to bargain. Then in 1947 the Taft-Hartley Act took away some more freedom. For example, by laying down various rules and regulations as stumbling blocks to big strikes.

government interference with any kind of freedom is involved, the big dispute always spins around the basic question: Is it necessary?

In this case the President's committee—which proposed other T-H changes also—thinks it is for the sake of the general welfare. Henry Ford II, a member of the committee, disagreed.

Changes Opposed

He opposed almost all the suggested changes and particularly said that "fact-finding boards with power to recommend terms of settlement would be both unjustified and unwise."

Effects of Nuclear Testing on Genes Has Scientists Worried

Radiation, Like Heat and Chemicals, Can Result in Mutations to Body Cells

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Much of human destiny is governed by genes, the tiny miraculous agents of heredity. Genes determine inherited characteristics, from eye color to intelligence, susceptibility to some diseases, the potential for long life.

What effects nuclear fallout has on genes is one of the worrisome questions surrounding atomic tests. Recent scientific findings, including the story gathered from one million mice here, are putting the answer in better focus.

Mutate or Change
It's long been known that genes mutate or change spontaneously. Mishaps occur when new genes are assembled in body cells. Heat and chemicals can cause mutations. So can radiation. Mutations

Second of Series

In genes are generally considered to be harmful, only occasionally resulting in an improvement in evolution.

Scientists assume background radiation causes some spontaneous mutations. Various experts think it causes from one-fourth to 1-40th of all spontaneous mutations.

Fallout has added a little bit to natural radiation, so they assume fallout must also be contributing to human genetic changes.

Note the word "assume."

Mutations Produced
For the experts' concern stems largely from radiation studies with fruitflies, mice, and other animals, plus some observations of humans. Heavy exposures to X-rays produce mutations. The more bitter the dose, the more mutations.

So, playing it cautiously, geneticists assume any amount of radiation affects some genes, even the small amount from natural radiation, and the 5 per cent or

Health Leaders to Select March of Dimes Scholarship Winners

Five Wisconsin health leaders have been appointed members of a professional committee to select Wisconsin's 15 recipients of The National Foundation-March of Dimes 1962 Health Scholarships.

But there's no sharp drop in Dimes 1962 Health Scholarships, effects between 8-10ths per minute and the lowest rate—1-1,000ths per minute.

No Limitations
So it cannot be said on this basis that there is no dose so low it wouldn't affect some genes. In short, there is no evidence that ment, Milwaukee County Hospital; there is any threshold below which effects would not occur.

What happens to mouse genetics may also happen to human genes. These and other observations lead most geneticists to believe fallout radiation may have some very real effect on human heredity, but for four-year scholarships in the health fields of medicine, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy and social work ($500 each). Each scholarship is for $500 a year, or a total of $2,000.

But the nature of the evidence so far permits the estimates or guesses ranging from almost no human effects, to guesses of big numbers over tens to hundreds of years.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

GOOD LEADERS ARE ESSENTIAL FOR GROUP SUCCESS. TRUE? FALSE?

WHAT YOU LAUGH AT REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER. TRUE? FALSE?

WHO RECOGNIZES EMOTIONS BETTER? MEN? WOMEN?

True, according to three investigators who studied about 400 people. On the basis of their responses to 100 jokes, these people were classified as confident, dominating, repressed, contemptuous and sophisticated. One simple test anyone can make is this: Is the suffering or embarrassment of others regarded as funny? Does the "joke" hurt or ridicule anyone?

Good leaders are essential for group success.

True — False —

True, but only partly so. Studies show that a group may have good leaders, but may lack ways of getting them where they should be. You must also have ways of making sure that the best leaders can and will be chosen, and of getting rid of "dead wood." Power-hungry people who get in control can wreck everything for years. Effective organizations must have well working and clearly understood ways of making desirable changes in personnel. These are not easy to achieve, but they do need to be worked on.

Who recognizes emotions better? Men — Women —

One research study found men superior, three found women superior.

'Programmed Education' as New As Methods Used by Socrates

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D. Professor of Education, University of Southern California

"Programmed education" is the newest term in teaching, but don't let it scare you. It's old as Socrates. As a matter of fact, it is the method Socrates used!

Socrates taught by questions, leading the student from one conclusion to the next, with as little interference as possible. More than 2,000 years later, his method is popular again. Educators hail it as new!

Basically, "programmed education" means learning in carefully selected steps. Each new step can be performed by the students with little or no help from the teacher once he understands the preceding step.

The teacher presents the problem. The method seems logical. One learns 2N equals 10 and asks what number does "N" represent? When the student has discovered that N must be 5 and that the result is obtained by dividing the result by 2, he proceeds with the machines.

One Step After Another

This adds one complication after another. One problem after another is presented, each adding a new situation until the problem is reached. By this time the student thoroughly understands the processing and some students need to be substituted a general-to-specific theory, as follows:

The teacher presents the problem. The student understands this general problem. he can work all of the problems in the series quickly. They all become special cases under the general principle.

Faced with the general problem first, the student is forced to think, not memorize. Going directly to the main problem is one proceeds from the simple to the complex as illustrated above.

In the 1920s a new theory of need to pool their resources. Known knowledge and methods. We can learn from each other. If we do not later in the afternoon. A re-election to a third two-year term.

Heading the planning committee are Herman Maes and George R. Greenwood, according to Robert Niesen, Grand Knight.

one stage before proceeding to the next.

Only skillful teachers can make allowances for these differences. "Programmed instruction" has to be geared to the individual as well as to the group.

In my own mathematics teaching, I have used variations of programmed teaching for 40 years. I first learned from Dr. Raleigh Schorling of the University of Michigan, who developed programmed teaching to a high level following the principles laid down by the psychologist Edward Thorndike.

Under Thorndike psychology, one proceeds from the simple to the complex as illustrated above.

In the 1920s a new theory of need to pool their resources. Known knowledge and methods. We can learn from each other. If we do not later in the afternoon. A re-election to a third two-year term.

Heading the planning committee are Herman Maes and George R. Greenwood, according to Robert Niesen, Grand Knight.

New Social Season Launched at Riverview, Butte des Morts Clubs

Butte des Morts Golf Club and Riverview Country Club members opened their new seasons Saturday with gay party events.

"The Twist" was the Riverview party theme, and instructions were given members who wanted to learn the nation's newest dance craze. Decorations were carried out in red and white stripes. A 6:30 p.m. cocktail party began the festivities. Dinner and dancing rounded out the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Freschl were party chairmen.

"Welcome Back to Butte des Morts" spelled out the theme at BDM. The cocktail hour was held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. After dinner, members danced until 1 a.m.

Party chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jack.

It May Look Difficult, or even absurd, but once you learn the technique, the Twist is really fun to do. Riverview Country Club members discovered Saturday evening. Above, Miss Vicki Spooner, Appleton, and Bryan Cook, Green Bay, fell into laughter as they tried to show others how it's done. At left, C. B. Sitterson and Mrs. William McGraw entered into the spirit of the Twist, by making good use of the red and white striped candy canes. Below, at dinner, are Mr. and Mrs. Martin V. Werner and Mr. and Mrs. Delford Hanke.

Butte des Morts Golf Club members began their new social season with a "Welcome Back" theme Saturday evening. Above, choosing from the tempting array of hors d'oeuvres before dinner are Mr. and Mrs. James Gutsman, Kaukauna, new social chairmen, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Banker, Appleton. Below, party chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jack, chairmen of the welcome party, make sure that everything is "just so." Members dined at 8 p.m. and danced until 1 a.m.

Newlyweds Honeymoon In South

Miss Carol Salkowski and Elmer Sevcik were united in marriage at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Holy Rosary Church, Kewaunee. The Rev. Michael Jacowski officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Salkowski, Kewaunee. Mrs. Kathryn Sevcik, Kewaunee, is the mother of the bridegroom.

Miss Jeanette Popp, Manitowoc, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Orville Konop, Green Bay, and Miss Geri Prokash, Manitowoc.

Best man was Charles Moile, Kewaunee. Orville Konop, Green Bay, and John Sevcik Jr., Kewaunee, acted as groomsmen.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. A reception was held at Van's Supper Club, Kewaunee.

Mrs. Sevcik was graduated from Kewaunee High School and Holy Family School of Nursing, Manitowoc. She has been employed at Holy Family Hospital, Manitowoc. Her husband was graduated from Kewaunee High School, Marquette University, Milwaukee, and the University of Wisconsin, Madison. He is employed at the Outagamie County Department of Public Welfare.

After a honeymoon trip to Atlanta, Ga., and Fort Myers

Miss Gerlach to Work in Africa

Miss Marian Gerlach, former music director at Appleton High School, will be the first music educator in the United States to participate in Operation-Crossroads Africa, Inc. The program in international communication is privately originated and operated and was one of the forerunners of the Peace Corps. It was created in 1958 by James H. Robinson, a nationally-known Presbyterian minister who serves as director.

Miss Gerlach was selected by a special National Education Association screening committee for the Liberian Educational Program. She will spend the summer in Monrovia, capital of Liberia, where she will work with elementary school educators and members of the National Department of Public Instruction in the establishment of music programs in the schools. She will spend a week of orientation at Lincoln University, near Philadelphia, Pa., before flying to Africa June 22.

For the last three years, Miss Gerlach has conducted summer

BURDENING BEREAVED

Many times I hesitate about writing condolence notes to friends who are prominent citizens and who have wide circles of friends. I always wish I could say, "Please don't acknowledge this message." I don't want to burden these friends and acquaintances with thank you notes. One case recently had to do with the death of an 85 year old man who was nationally prominent and whose widow is frail and ailing. There were no children to assume these responsibilities. The widow is decidedly of the manner born. I am certain that she would write notes of appreciation if it takes her months to do it and that seems to me to be cruel. I hated to burden her with a note, yet there was a compulsion to write because of our friendship. I am sure that she received sev-

Miss Burns was graduated from Washington High School, New London. Her fiancé, a graduate of Shawano High School, is employed at the Neenah Foundry. A fall wedding is being planned.

Jackie's Hairdo Starts Wig Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy is sporting a modified Cleopatra style hairdo, and the White House says it's no wig.

The First Lady showed up at the Capitol Tuesday for the annual luncheon of the Senate wives Red Cross unit. She was wearing her hair wide and bouffant at the sides, but there were no bangs. She wore a small black velvet bow in front to go with her gray and white houndstooth checked suit.

One Senate wife wondered if it might not be a wig. There also were reports when Mrs. Kennedy visited Pakistan and India that she might be taking along a wig to ease her coiffure problems.

The White House denied the presence of a wig on the trip. If St. Ruth group had charge of denied Tuesday's wig rumor, too.

St. Pius X Women Elect New Officers

St. Pius X Christian Mothers and Altar Society elected Mrs. Milton Warning president when they met Thursday evening at the school. Mrs. Burton Tusler will serve as vice president; Mrs. Robert Wirth, treasurer, and Mrs. Kevin Flaherty, secretary. The mother-daughter breakfast will be held May 27. A business meeting and installation of new officers will also take place at that time.

Mrs. Clifford Hatch presented a demonstration of floral arrangements. Mrs. Wenzel Blazek, and the presence of a wig on the trip. If St. Ruth group had charge of denied Tuesday's wig rumor, too.

Colors in Home Should Have Harmonious Effect

As a bride-to-be more of your time is being devoted to ideas and fads of quality paint. His for decorating and furnishing your new home and selecting your trousseau than to anything else of course except the details of the wedding, itself.

With both trousseau and home the first question you have to decide is what colors you want. Happily, there's never been a bigger year for color in the home. Your reputable paint dealer or

Keep in mind, however, that colors have a personality of their own and can have an effect on yours. So consider first those you like and with which you feel most comfortable. If you're a blonde for instance, who's never worn orange, before, use it perhaps, as an accent, but don't paint it on a large wall.

Ask Partner's Advice
Consult your husband—remember, he's living there, too. A pink bedroom might embarrass some men, you know, whereas the same shade in a bathroom could be a morning pick-up for him. If he's the I don't care make a beige and brown type, use your feminine wiles and recall what colors he's most admired on you.

As you do with your fashions, consider your home as a harmonic whole. This is especially important with modern architecture where rooms drift into one another. A bathroom opening off a bedroom—or a dining area off a living room—might pick up its colors from the major room. You might use the same color in a deeper shade. Or reverse the wall and ceiling colors in each room.

You can certainly repeat a wall color in another part of the house, combine it with different accents for added interest. For example, one homemaker we know painted her living room walls pale blue. She paired it with a purple rug, lavender, fuchsia and bright green furnishings. A pink-toned blue was used on the bathroom walls, but here she utilized sea colors as major accents: turquoise and a dash of pale green. It gave her home drama and unity without boredom.

Give Different Effects
Note room sizes and exposures. Paint color can change architecture and temperature as well as temper. A room painted a light tint will seem larger. The reverse is true of a dark shade. By the same token, light tints push low ceilings up, darker shades pull too high ones down. If you've a room with a Northern exposure that needs "sunnifying," consider

Color-treated locks do not take treated water right out of your kindly to hot sun or, for that hair after swimming matter, to many elements in outdoor life. Constant exposure vacation necessities, don't over-causes brittleness and streaking look your hair-care products. Most can be stored in small plastic travel containers for than at the start!

For a long sojourn, there is wisdom in including a tinted creme rinse. It would blend in the roots and keep the over-all color fresh. Such rinses are easy on the hair, as they have conditioning properties and wash out. Given this much care, your locks will resist damage. They may even improve—be in better shape at the end of the summer than at the start!

Your Problems

Discipline Should be Swift, Sure; Concern of Both Parents

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife believes it is exclusively the father's responsibility to mete out punishment to the children in their home when the kids do something wrong. Her Mother wrote it down on a piece of paper and handed the list to Father. When he walked into the house, the kids lined up and took what was coming to them.

Our children are seven, five and three. They are fairly well behaved, but like all kids, they get into mischief. I've been following my wife's idea of discipline but I don't agree with it -- especially for the 3-year-old. I have the feeling he doesn't remember what he's getting spanked for most of the time.

What are your views on "the old-fashioned system" as my wife calls it. Do you think it is effective? —MR. MEAN

Dear Mr. Mean: The "old-fashioned" system is neither effective nor fair to the father. Children should "get what's coming to them" when they earn it -- not "when Dad comes home." If Dad happens to be home at the time it's better if he metes out the punishment. But Mother should not cast him in the role of executioner.

Delayed punishment for young children is ineffective. A 3-year-old often forgets what he did five hours earlier. In brief: Discipline should be swift and sure, and the business of both parents.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been married over 30 years to a man who was never much of a husband and even less of a father. I'm not punning any medals on myself but I worked doubly hard at being a mother, and all four of our children turned out very well. My husband has been running around with women for a long time. I had hoped he'd get stationed near where I live so I could see him every weekend. We've been together for 30 years. Sid is time. I had hoped he'd get stationed near where I live so I could see him every weekend. We've been together for 30 years. Sid is drunk as usual, with lipstick on his collar and on his ear. I told Florida. They have invited me down for a week's vacation when Sid gets out of the service in June. I'd like to go. When I mention this house belongs to me, they looked at me with great big question marks in their eyes. I assure you it's all very respectable, but I don't want to go if it won't look right. What do you think? —Reluctant

Dear Reluctant: I have a few great big question marks in my eyes, too. First -- how old are you? There's a whole lot of difference between 16 and 22, you know. Are you still in school? What do your parents say? You don't even mention them. You'll have to tell Granny Landers a lot more if you expect a green light from here.

Girl Scouts in Appleton have begun the collection of old toys for the Girl Scout Christmas Toy Workshop. The used items are taken to the home of Mrs. M. A. Buchanan, 501 E. Grant St., for repair. Mrs. Buchanan assists seventh and eighth grade and senior scouts with repairing and painting the toys, which are distributed by various charity organizations to needy children. Above, calling on Miss Mary Ann Roegner are Miss Kathleen Kemen and her mother, Mrs. Vincent Kemen. The scouts spend each Saturday during the fall on the project.

Win Heart With 'Gem'

"If you wanted to do the right thing with my heart," the sweet young thing was saying in the elevator to the intense young man, "you should have put a small diamond on the table."

Nobody lifted an eyebrow. It was the elevator of New York's famous Regency Club, and bridge the young man so intense. He had to give up two trumps, one spade and one diamond. Down one.

The sweet young thing wanted her partner to lead a small diamond before drawing a second round of trumps. He would find out whether he was going to lose one or two diamond tricks.

Can Play Safe

South would actually find out that he was going to lose only one diamond trick. Hence he could afford to lose one trump trick and could play safe.

The safety play is to get back with the jack of clubs and lead a low trump toward dummy. This guards against Q 10-x of trumps on either side.

If West has four trumps, he can take the queen, but dummy's queen and South's king easily draw the rest of the trumps. If East has four trumps, the actual case, he can capture dummy's jack, but declarer later leads the low trump from dummy to force through East's ten.

South's actual play in leading out both the ace and king of trumps would be correct if he first discovered that he would have to lose two diamond tricks. In this case South cannot afford to lose a trump trick and would have to pick up the diamond queen.

FOR BETTER POT ROASTS

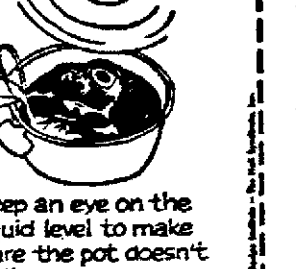

Pot roasting is a cooking method for the less-tender cuts of any meat—beef, veal, pork, chicken.

Season the pot roast well and with imagination. You will be rewarded with many compliments.

Slow cooking is the key to good pot roasts. Keep the heat set so that the liquid just simmers.

Don't overcook the meat; it will become stringy and tasteless.

Keep an eye on the liquid level to make sure the pot doesn't boil dry.

Avoid Chances

Sleeveless dresses demand frequent and close shaving of the underarms. Don't take chances with a dull blade. Use new blade and plenty of shaving soap. Light, even strokes will keep cuts and scrapes to a minimum. Do not apply strong chemical preparations to the sensitive skin. Rub gently with a moist pure vegetable oil.

Best-Tied List Shows Importance of Cravat

For those anxiously awaiting the news, here is the new list of type of wardrobe.

Patterns Add Variety

For additional variety, there will be plenty of patterned ties this spring. The patterns, in general, are small, neat and conservative—nothing garish or unrealistic for this subdued age in men's clothing.

Because of the prevailing use of blue in men's suits, many of the ties are built around a blue theme, but there's no shortage of color combinations, whatever your taste in clothes.

One of the chief advantages of a good-looking tie is that it brightens the wardrobe.

Don't overdo it, but a bright tie can keep a dark business suit from becoming too deadly dull.

Up-to-Date Look

The surest way to tell how up-to-date a man's tie is to look at the width. The wider the tie, the older it is.

The new neckwear runs anywhere from a slim-line one inch to 2 1/2 inches in width.

This comparatively narrow width, combined with the stripes, complements and adds to the so-called "long vertical" look now in evidence in men's suits.

So try to consider a tie not as something to be tied off-hand and without attention to your other clothes.

The tie can be a deciding influence in whether you look well-outfitted.

Found Space in a Hall

New homes can be planned to line hallways with storage room, and so can old homes that bloom anew with ideal remodeling. Almost nothing can be done to living quarters that is enjoyed more than the wise providing of extra put-away space, and good plotting doesn't stop short because a hall is none too wide.

This hall hadn't more than 18 inches of depth to spare, but not even the interruption of a window was allowed to stop the spread of the new wall-length cabinets. They continue low under the window and are cushioned to bring back the old convenience and comfort of a window seat. For the bedroom and bath opening onto the hall, the cabinets store linens and blankets, extra pillows, baby equipment and economically bought quantities of soap and toiletries. Space under the window seat hides away fans and other electrical appliances. Curtains are hung just high enough to shut off the view from the house next door, but low enough to let in light.

Mrs. G. M.: "We are about to paint the upper walls of our new kitchen, which is 7' x 9' and has one window. The cabinets are blond and the lower walls are paneled in golden walnut. The floor tile colors are yellow, beige and cream, and the furniture is red. I thought of ivory, white, beige or yellow for the wall areas to be painted, but would another color be better?"

With the exception of yellow, the colors you suggest might leave the kitchen with an unfinished look. If you use one of them, give the room finish and decoration with wallpaper trimming, perhaps one of the borders which have a wrought iron effect, in black or charcoal only, or another type which uses one deep color boldly. Or paper the walls with a pattern which has a beige background to blend into the wall paneling and cabinet colors, and includes a little red.

Give Husband 'Dressing Room' In Office, Car

Putting his best face forward all day long is good business for the man who married. In today's tough business world, the first impression created by a man's appearance can mean the difference between success and failure — and more money.

It's a smart wife who knows this and does something about it.

Why not plan an office "dressing room" for your husband? Whether in his desk at the office, or in the glove compartment of the car, the businessman can keep grooming needs handy at all times.

Mintum requirements for that office desk or car are a razor, shaving cream and lotion for that emergency shave. A comb and hand-brush, hair tonic, soap and deodorant, a tooth brush and his favorite powder or paste will be well-combed on any unexpected over-

Big Contest Can be Fun For You to Win This Prize

BY CAPPY DICK

Boys and girls! Would you like to win a big dictionary? You will win a big dictionary if you automatically compete with local prize winners from all other cities! These books are published to determine the winners of the states? If your answer is the "Advanced Junior dictionary," the second is "Everyday Problems in Science" and the third is "In All Our States." All the books together are a valuable help in school work.

Also, you have a chance in this contest to win one of the most fascinating magic tricks known—the famous Jumping Stars Paddle Trick. Five of these will be awarded as the local prizes to boys and girls of the Fox Cities area.

In performing this trick, you show both sides of a paddle to your audience. They are the same. Suddenly a star jumps and one side of the paddle is different from the other! Using the secret that is provided with the equipment, you can perform this trick over and over without an special preparation.

If you win, one of the Jumping Stars Paddle Tricks, which will be awarded for the five nearest.

Webelos Den Formed For Fremont Cubs

most original local entries in the flower-coloring contest, you will automatically compete with local prize winners from all other cities! These books are published to determine the winners of the states? If your answer is the "Advanced Junior dictionary," the second is "Everyday Problems in Science" and the third is "In All Our States." All the books together are a valuable help in school work.

To color the flowers in the picture above, use your paints or crayons. When the coloring has been finished, clip out the picture and paste it on paper or a postal card. Add any decorations you believe will make your entry neat and original. You may use coloring, cut-outs or any other suitable materials.

Print your name, age and address beneath the picture and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent.

Names of the prize winners will be published here. Decisions of the judges will be final. All entries become the property of Cappy Dick and none can be returned.

Gallery of Arts to Back Next Show Season

Wayne King of Waltz Fame to Appear On Last Program of Current Series

Appleton Gallery of Arts not only will complete its current season of sponsorship of Variety Theater productions, but will continue the business association next year.

Andy Serrahn, Green Bay representative of Variety Theater, has come up with Wayne King and his orchestra in a musical show for 8:15 p.m. Monday at Appleton High School to complete the current series. Wayne King and his troupe replace Shelley Berman, originally scheduled for the series. Tickets already sold for the Berman show will be honored Monday night.

Artists for next season will be announced at Monday night's show. According to Serrahn, they will include four headliners with the possibility of two or three extra presentations. Season tickets will cover four programs; the sale of season tickets will be handled again by Appleton Gallery of Arts and Newman's store in Appleton. Tickets for the Wayne King program also are available at the Appleton store.

Steel Airs Tallulah in Drama Today

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — Tallulah Bankhead stars in a play which is perfect for her on tonight's Steel Hour. "A Man for Oona" bears the subtitle "A Fable for Grown-Ups," and that's exactly what it is. It's a light, romantic comedy where the heroine (Astrid Wilsrud) is a plain girl and the problem for her mother (Miss Bankhead) is to find her a proper husband. Nature, of course, triumphs over Mamma's machinations.

Waltz King — This was in the days of the jazz music craze. To be different, King insisted on playing television show of his own tonight. As a result, the waltz popularity and friends and the excitement swept Chicago and then the nation. Wayne King became known as "the waltz king," a title that he and his musical organization has kept in identification.

7-30-8 (Channel 4-5) — The Joey Bishop Show switches to its next season plot when Joey gets a television show of his own tonight. This naturally excites his family and friends and the excitement swept Chicago and then the nation. Wayne King became known as "the waltz king," a title that he and his musical organization has kept in identification.

7-30-8 (Channel 2) — Checkmate's job is to protect the manager of a swank health club, who is apparently the target of killers. We know, because we're allowed to eavesdrop, that Don Taylor is being threatened by gamblers because he reneged on a deal to help fix a football game.

8-9 (Channel 11) — Hawaiian Eye presents a rascally fortune hunter (Chad Everett) and it's pleasant to watch him get his just desserts.

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — The Perry Como Show halts Kentucky on its state salute this week, with all the regulars joining guests Lola Albright, Eddie Arcaro and Sammy Renick (the latter two are both ex-jockeys) in this. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 11) — Naked City's repeat raises a neat point of law: Is the human body or the human mind guilty of a crime? Martin Balsam plays a man who killed a storekeeper in a hold-up. Since his arrest, he had an operation to remove a brain tumor, and the operation wiped out the last 10 years of his memory.

9-30-10 (Channel 4-5) — David Brinkley's Journal looks at two groups of people tonight — first the large and generally unhappy reservists who were called back to duty and, second, the small and generally happy collection of men and women who have made millions out of whacky ideas. (Color)

10-20-12 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's guests are Milton Kamen, Xavier Cugat, Abbe Lane and Eric Erickson, a World War II spy. (Color)

Retired Mailman Gets Citation for Faithful Service
George J. Weinfurter, 540 E. McKinley St., a retired Appleton mail carrier, has received a certificate of honorary recognition from the U.S. Post Office Department "for devotion to duty in his career in the Postal Service."

Weinfurter retired Nov. 30, 1960, after 42 years and four months as a mail carrier in Appleton. He worked mainly in the courthouse district, and in the Palisades area for the final seven years.

The certificate reads, "This citation, tendered upon the occasion of retirement from active duty, conveys official commendation from the Postmaster General and the cordial expression of esteem from coworkers in the service." It is signed by Postmaster General J. Edward Day. It is awarded after a complete investigation of the recipient's service.

When Weinfurter started work with the Post Office in 1918, Appleton had 13 mail carriers. There were about 65 carriers when he retired in 1960.

Weinfurter is the second vice president of the Retired Civil Service Employees Association, which will hold its state convention in Madison Friday and Saturday. He served as president and vice president of the State Association of Letter Carriers from 1921 to 1941, and as national organizer for Wisconsin of the National Association of Letter Carriers from 1958 to 1960.

Critics of the New Movie, "Rome Adventure," say the film is as much a photographic tour of Italy as it is a romantic love story. The movie, currently playing at the Appleton Theater, stars newcomer Suzanne Pleshette opposite Troy Donahue. Featured players include Italian actor Rossano Brazzi, musician Al Hirt, Angie Dickinson and Constance Ford.

Dick Powell's Pilot Film Makes Good Will Expand for New Series Called 'Saints and Sinners'

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dick Powell Show on NBC Tuesday night — a hum-and-chase story called "Savage Sunday" — was of special interest on two counts.

It was a pilot film, on the strength of which a network series for next season was sold, to be called "Saints and Sinners." It was also the first television return to the newspaper drama since the good old days of "The Big Story."

The characters haven't changed much over the years. Nick Adams plays the usual brash young reporter, complete with a belted trenchcoat. There's the tough city editor with the heart of gold and, of course, the aging, ailing rewrite man. On top of all this, there was a rather familiar story about a naive girl assaulted and terrified by a pair of drunken ruffians.

Doris Day's Son Signs Recording Contract
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer-actress Doris Day's son, Terry Melcher, 20, has signed a recording contract with Columbia Records.

A deal approved Thursday by a judge gives the youth a $2,000 advance plus $50 per recording session and 4.5 per cent of gross retail sales of his records. He sings popular songs.

one walking out of "PM," late evening show. Mike Wallace, the host, is pulling out June 22 and the show is folding.

Anne Bancroft, a performer who can do anything from serious dramatic acting to singing and dancing, will be back on still another Perry Como show—May 23. Her guest appearances have been so frequent she's almost a program regular now.

Idea Theatre to Tour County Fairs With New Musical Play

The Wisconsin Idea Theatre will send a company on the road for the first time this summer for a tour of county fairs.

The company will present "Down River," new musical play by David Peterson of Madison, at 11 locations.

The schedule includes Medford, July 22; Fond du Lac, July 26; Monroe, Aug. 1; Merrill, Aug. 7; Antigo, Aug. 11; Rhinelander, Aug. 12; Ellsworth, Aug. 17; De Pere, Aug. 18; Black River Falls, Aug. 26; Plymouth, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1; and Shawano, Sept. 2 and 3. Other dates may be added.

Peterson is a teacher at Monona Grove High School in Madison. He will be managing director from the Madison area.

Grange Hears Of Tax Laws
GREENVILLE — Wisconsin's new tax law was discussed for the South Greenville Grange by Samuel Sigman, lawyer. A committee of Henry Schaefer, Elmer Root and Sigman will draft a letter clarifying the grange's position on taxes in regard to wedding dinners and dinners served to farm organizations and other organizations. It was voted to spend $1,000 for resurfacing the parking lot, repaving the driveways and improve drainage.

Action Can Stop Coming Recession

BY SYLVIA PORTER
If the next business recession is due to hit the United States in 1963, what can we, as responsible individuals and as a nation, do to prevent it?

Do not shrug off the threat of the fifth slump of post-World War II could be developing as 1962 turns into 1963.

The history of business cycles during the past 100 years suggests this upturn will be running out of steam as early as next spring. The average life of 22 peacetime cycles of business upturns from 1864 to 1954 has been only 26 months and this latest expansion is already 15 months old. The scope of the 1961-62 upswing to date has been just middling, neither spectacularly good nor spectacularly bad; the result is that our unemployment rate at this juncture stage in the advance continues steadily high and corollary profit margins are just not fat as they must be if business spending is to be at the pace essential to sustain the advance.

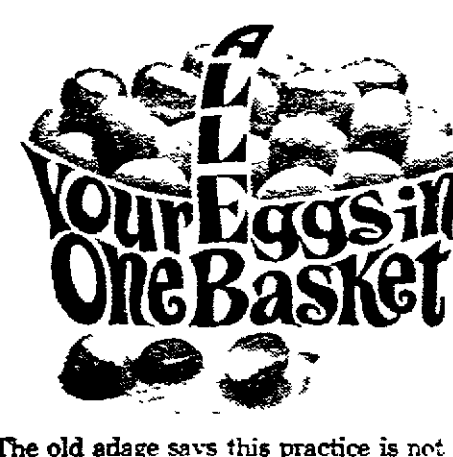

We Can Do Plenty
What, then, can we do to meet the threat of recession before it becomes reality, sends bankruptcies soaring, throws more millions of men and women out of work, causes new damage to our nation in today's fiercely competitive world markets?

We can do plenty — and one place we can start right now is with major reform of our tax laws and regulations to spur business into spending additional billions on modernization and expansion of our increasingly obsolete factories and equipment.

This spending can be stimulated through the treasury's scheduled liberalization of its depreciation rules which will permit businessmen to write down costs of buying equipment in a much shorter period of time and save them an estimated $1 to $1.5 billion a year in taxes. The new schedules are being prepared by the treasury, will be disclosed before June 21. It can be stimulated to go through passage of the tax credit plan by Congress which would give businessmen investing in equipment a cash rebate of taxes up to 7 per cent as the bill stands today and 8 per cent if the administration's proposal finally wins. This move would save businessmen another $1 billion or more in taxes each year.

Spotlighted in Steel
It can be spurred by a thorough reform of our tax laws and regulations governing depreciation of equipment businessmen buy to modernize their plants. The one bright aspect of steel's unrelenting attempt to raise prices is that it has invited attention on the problem businessmen face today as they seek to finance modernization and expansion of their factories.

While the latest McGraw-Hill estimate of what businessmen will spend this year raises the total to an all-time peak of $30 billion, 11 per cent over 1961's total, this is still not good enough. Many companies are, as the industry claims, in a profit squeeze and they must have relief if they are to spend what they should spend. Many corporations are holding back on investments which are imperative if their plants are to be able to stay competitive. Rising prices isn't the solution to this crucial money problem of U.S. business today. Tax relief is. This is plain talk, factual and unbiased. The McGraw-Hill fore-

Your Eggs in One Basket

The old adage says this practice is not a very safe one. And it can frequently be unwise in investment buying, too. You'll be better able to protect the profit potential of your holdings by buying stock in several different companies. If you buy too much of any particular stock, your portfolio may get out of balance and a change in the stock may have an unstabilizing influence on your total investment. Diversification of stocks adds to the security of investment and gives you a fairer and more advantageous share in the total American business scene.

We invite you to call or visit any Robert W. Baird & Co., office to discuss the best plan of diversification to fit your own personal investment situation and goal.

Lawrence Says Dedicated Men Trying to Save Constitution Writer Claims Two Civil Rights Amendments Frauds

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The business of Congress has slowed down. The Senate is engaged in a "miniature" or lengthy debate, which represents a desperate attempt by a small group of dedicated men to save the Constitution from being violated by a majority who are seeking allegedly to protect "civil rights."

If the vote to shut off debate, known as "cloture," were to succeed in getting the two-thirds majority it requires, there is a 51 per cent majority ready to pass a bill which would take away from the states the right to set the qualifications for voters. This would be an unconstitutional act and many senators who feel they must vote in favor of it for political reasons have some are secretly hoping "cloture" will fail and that the "cloture" measure will never get through both houses. Then they would presumably retain the favor of the minority groups even though the bill doesn't become law.

Case of Hypocrisy It's a transparent case of hypocrisy in public office. It couldn't happen if the American people knew all the circumstances. But the gap in communication between the people and their government is in some respects not much different from what it was nearly a century ago. Then, as now, a fraud can be perpetrated and the Constitution completely disregarded without encountering the protest that certainly would come if the people were told all the facts so that they could understand the issues.

Today, few people in the United States know, for instance, that the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments — on which the whole controversy over "civil rights" laws is based — were never legally adopted.

Few people know that the Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly dodged the issue and refused to consider any case involving the legality of the method used in "ratifying" those two proposed amendments to the Constitution. The alibi or excuse given is that there are questions involving the "political departments" of the government and what are termed "political questions."

Never Left Union All the history books describing the events that occurred after the war between the states was over agree on the facts. Both Presidents Lincoln and Johnson took the position that the Southern states had never left the union. In May 1865, after the surrender of the South, President Johnson issued a proclamation of amnesty and set up provisional governments in all of the Southern states. Constitutional conventions were convened in each, and new state governments and members of Congress were elected. Before the end of the year, the new legislatures had ratified the Thirteenth Amendment, which abolished slavery, and their action was accepted as formal ratification by Lincoln, constituted state governments. When, however, the newly elected senators and representatives presented themselves at the opening of Congress on December 4, 1865, they were refused admission by the "radical Republicans" who were in control.

These same state governments continued to function through 1866 but declined to ratify the Fourteenth Amendment, which had been proposed by Congress in June of that year. The Republican Party then pushed through in April 1867 the first of the "Reconstruction Acts." This divided the South into five military districts, imposed martial law, and made ratification of the Fourteenth

Teen-Age Driver Loses License For 90 Days

WAUPACA — Thomas F. Bauer, 17, 225 E. Coolidge Ave., Appleton, pleaded guilty of driving on the wrong side of the road Monday night when he appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen. His driver's license was suspended for 90 days.

Bauer was arrested by city and county police about 8:45 p.m. Sunday. He was observed "fishing" his car around the Churchill and Royalton streets intersection and speeding south on U.S. 10.

Police in pursuit told the court that Bauer passed two cars on the curve near the Conservation League, which is marked with a double yellow line. It was drizzling and foggy, police reported.

KIWANIS' GOOD NEIGHBOR WHITE ELEPHANT SALE: MAY 5th

Vandenbroek Officials Hit Annexation

Kaukauna Gets Land On Which Implement Firm Will Build

Town of Vandenbroek officials and more than 85 residents objected to the Kaukauna City Council's decision to annex 18 acres of land from the Town of Vandenbroek to Kaukauna.

The objections were voiced at a public hearing prior to Tuesday night's council meeting.

The land annexed was the 18 acres on which Badger Northland has announced its intention of building a $750,000 plant. Plans call for the first section of the building to be completed by Aug. 1 at a cost of about $250,000. Other additions will follow to make the entire cost of the plant $750,000.

A letter signed by George Kroes town chairman, and other members of the town board, objected in that it would make township boundary lines irregular, it was removing a tax source from the township which was part of the Kaukauna school district and already putting nearly 90 per cent of its total taxes into the school system and since Badger Northland was a farm implement firm, it could well afford to remain in an area to benefit persons buying farm implements.

Referring to inadequate police and fire protection and lack of sewer facilities, township officials indicated these services could be arranged with Kaukauna as the city already provides outlying areas with sewers and has extended fire protection agreements. Three pages of signatures by township residents accompanied the letter.

Gerard Van Hoof, attorney for the township, read what was in the letter, urged Badger Northland officials to drop the petition and keep good will and cooperation between the township and the city. He asked that the matter be stayed for further study on possible additional annexations.

President Speaks
Vincent Rohlf, president of Badger Northland, expressed regret at being caught in the middle of the annexation questions. He asked for understanding, saying Badger did not want to create difficulties between municipalities or with its customers.

As the property stood before annexation, Rohlf said, the new plant would have to have been built partially on Kaukauna and partially on Vandenbroek land. This, he said, was not feasible from a tax standpoint. Fire insurance rates in the township would have been higher and the original agreement with underwriters of a stock sale to the public was made with the understanding the new building would be located in Kaukauna, thus in fairness to stockholders, the firm has no alternative, said the president.

He explained why the firm moved to Kaukauna in 1950 to gain adequate police and fire protection and to grow with a progressive community. Since that move, the number of employees has increased from six to nearly 300 and land space in use has increased from 5,000 to 70,000 of square feet, he stated.

North Central Workers, Owners Offered Shares

North Central Airlines has offered a new issue of 85,714 shares of common stock to its employees and stockholders.

The offering, par value $20, will be sold for $3.50 per share. A total of 40,000 shares will be offered to employees and the remainder will be offered to stockholders of record April 12 at a ratio of one new share for every 197 shares held. All stockholders may apply for unsubscribed shares.

A circular sent to stockholders says North Central will use proceeds from the sale to purchase new aircraft equipment and realign the company's financial position. North Central recently borrowed $2,326,000 to finance 90 per cent of the cost of two Convair 340-440 airplanes from other airlines.

Insurance Agents In Select Group

Three life insurance representatives in the Fox Cities are listed in the 1962 roster of the Million Dollar Round Table of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Every member of the 1962 Round Table must have sold at least a million dollars of life insurance in 1961 or else have met the even stricter requirements for life membership by his sales in prior years. Fewer than one per cent of the world's life insurance agents are Round Table members.

The Appleton representatives are H. Karl Schuetter, Northwestern Mutual Life, and Robert J. Spooner, Equitable Life of New York. George H. Cameron, of Neenah, Northwestern Mutual Life, also is on the roster.

Buddhist Faith Tolerant; Seeker Free to Choose From All Religions

BY DAVE MEAD
Chicago Daily News Service

BANGKOK, Thailand — Heed the law of cause and effect, take the middle of life's road and you'll leave pain behind you and find happiness.

This may well be the best god-less philosophy ever invented by man. It was proclaimed by Gautama Buddha, who taught that self-understanding leads to self-mastery and self-mastery leads to self-realization.

The great strength of Buddhism lies in its flexibility. Adherents are free to choose truth from all religions. And it is tolerant.

"To live and let live is the Buddhist spirit," says the venerable Prasiidhu Kittisiddho of the marble temple here.

The Ven. Kittisiddho, one of about 200,000 yellow-robed priest-monks in Thailand's more than 18,000 monasteries, emphasizes the point that Buddha's dharma—eternal truth—is never forced on a person.

No Blood Spilled
"It is up to you to accept the dharma," he notes in an article on "Buddhism the religion of reason."

This seems to be borne out by history.

In 25 centuries of their faith's right understanding, right aspiration to about one-fifth of the world's people. Buddhists claim right livelihood, right effort, right with pride, there was not one version by force nor a drop of blood spilled in its propagation.

What is the dharma of this religion without revelation, this philosophy that points not to God but rather to the middle path for each to follow in striving toward perfection?

The original gospel of Gautama, a young Indian prince who became one of the world's greatest sages and moral teachers, contained four noble truths: "noble eightfold path of righteousness" and five basic moral commandments.

4 Noble Truths.
The four noble truths—revelation concepts based on karma, the law of cause and effect and deal with suffering, its origin, cessation and the way to end suffering.

The middle path of enlightenment can be understood only if you avoid the extremes of sensuality and craving on the one hand and self-mortification and exaggerated asceticism on the other. It leads to extinction of suffering.

This eightfold path tells you and other cults in India, was possible. It involves the practice of five rather than negative.

It flourished on Gautama's But it lasted only 1,000 years—a great karmic truth. That we live brief span in the history of a religion in a universe of absolute justice; religion—in the country of its birth that it's futile to pin all hopes and aspirations entirely on temporal goals and material objectives.

Appleton Sewage Plant Work Will Cost $1.5 Million

$250,000 Federal Grant Will Cut City Share to $1,283,600

Expansion of Appleton's sewage treatment plant, including fees and contingencies, is going to cost $1,533,600, the board of public works learned Tuesday.

The city's share of the cost is $1,283,600, because a federal grant of $250,000 has been approved to help pay for the expansion. Interest on a bond issue to pay the city's share will come to about another $400,000.

Board members approved construction contracts totaling $11,461,000. That is nearly $400,000 under the estimated cost.

To the construction costs must be added $45,000 for engineering fees and to hire a resident engineer to oversee construction, $1,500 for legal fees, $1,100 for printing fees and a $25,000 contingency fund to take care of any unforeseen expenses.

Low Bidders

Wilson and Tavriles, Brookfield, Ill., is low on the general contract with a bid of $1,332,875. There were six other bids. The highest was for $1,578,447 from a Michigan firm.

R. Wenzel Co., Appleton, is low bidder for both the plumbing and heating and ventilating contracts. The plumbing bid is $12,143. There were no other bids for the contract.

The heating and ventilating bid is $9,270. There were four other bids, with the highest for $12,150.

Superior Electric, Appleton, is low for electrical work, on a bid of $106,733. There were two other bids. The highest was for $115,230.

Equipment Questioned

The board's recommendation to award contracts to these low bidders will come up for council approval tonight.

One board member questioned the advisability of using some alternate equipment included in the general contract, and approved by Greeley and Hansen, Chicago, consultant engineers for the project.

He said he thought some other equipment would work better.

Other members asked a representative of Greeley and Hansen if the recommended equipment is adequate and if it is being used satisfactorily by other cities. He said the equipment will do the job and is being used satisfactorily by other cities.

15 Months to Build

Board members voted to accept the consultant's recommendation, saying that the city paid Greeley and Hansen to do the job and their recommendation should be accepted.

It is expected construction of the expansion will take 15 months. Work is scheduled to begin about the middle of June, after the bonds have been sold and the contracts can be signed.

The city has spent about $22,770 to build a dike along the shore of the Fox River at the plant site to create more land area for the expanded facilities.

State Ordered Expansion

The plant site was too small to accommodate the two additional primary settling tanks and secondary treatment facilities.

Installation of more primary treatment and construction of secondary treatment facilities were ordered by the state board of health and the state committee on water pollution to help reduce pollution of the Fox River.

Three copies of the bid tabulations and contracts have to be sent to the state committee on water pollution because of the $250,000 federal grant. State approval is necessary before the federal money will be available. No problems are anticipated.

Student Receives Fulbright Grant

Peter Nelson Davis of Appleton, a student at the University of Wisconsin, has been awarded a Fulbright grant for graduate study abroad in 1962-1963. He will study law at Australian National University.

Davis is the son of Mrs. Myrl Davis, 826 E. Alton St. He is one of nine UW students to receive Fulbright grants this year.

Some 700 grants for graduate study abroad in the 1962-1963 school year are being awarded under the international educational exchange program of the Department of State. As provided by the Fulbright Act, all students are selected by the Board of Foreign Scholarships, the members of which are appointed by the President of the United States. Students are recommended by the campus Fulbright committees and by the Institute of International Education.

Foreign Youths to Visit at Area Farms

Eight young people will get acquainted with Wisconsin farm life this summer under the International Farm Youth Exchange Program. Two of them will be staying with families in the Fox Cities area.

Ellen Petersen, Germany, will visit the Lyle Kaddatz family, N. McCarthy Road, Appleton. This will be one of three farms which she will visit.

Roberto Zavala of Honduras will visit the Milton Maluge farm at Caroline, and the Ronald Goolsbey farm near Kaukauna.

Merchants Ask Chalking Halt For Meters

Chamber Group Will Ask City to Alter Parking Ordinance

The Downtown Retail Association of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will ask the city to stop "antagonizing" customers by chalking cars parked at metered stalls.

The merchant members of the association also will ask the city to end parking meter enforcement at 5 p.m. rather than 6 p.m. every day except Friday.

A big majority of the retailers favored putting an end to the chalking practice designed to stop "meter feeding." Appleton's meter maids now mark tires of cars parked in metered stalls to make sure that the cars don't stay longer than one hour. If the car is in a metered stall more than one hour after the tire is marked, a ticket is issued, whether there is money in the meter or not.

Practice Dropped

The chalking of cars at meters has been required under an Appleton ordinance for some time. The practice was dropped for a time after meter maids were hired so that their job would be easier at the outset. Then the practice was resumed.

Many merchants said their customers and salesmen who visited them strongly dislike the chalking practice, although a few pointed out that the practice insures a good turnover of parked cars on the avenue. Some held that meter maids know habitual "meter feeders" and could ticket only their cars. Most of the merchants were in favor of leaving the time limit on meters at one hour.

The association previously suggested to the city's public safety committee that meter enforcement end at 5 p.m., but the committee has no changed the ordinance. So the merchants decided to recommend the same thing again. The merchants want enforcement until 9 p.m. on Friday, however, but don't want enforcement on Monday nights. The association previously asked for enforcement on Monday night.

Manitowoc Pastor To be Marriage Session Speaker

The Rev. Bernard C. Gunz of Manitowoc will keynote the second session of the Fifth Annual Christian Marriage Conference at Faith Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. tonight.

The Rev. Mr. Gunz will speak on "The Christian Understanding of Sex." He will discuss where sex fits in God's plan for man, the right and wrong of sexual desire, and the Christian's responsibility toward wholesome sex education and toward the combating of pornography.

Rev. Gunz

The sessions are sponsored jointly by organizations of Bethany Lutheran at Kaukauna, Trinity Lutheran at Menasha, and the host Faith congregation, as a community service project. They are open to the public.

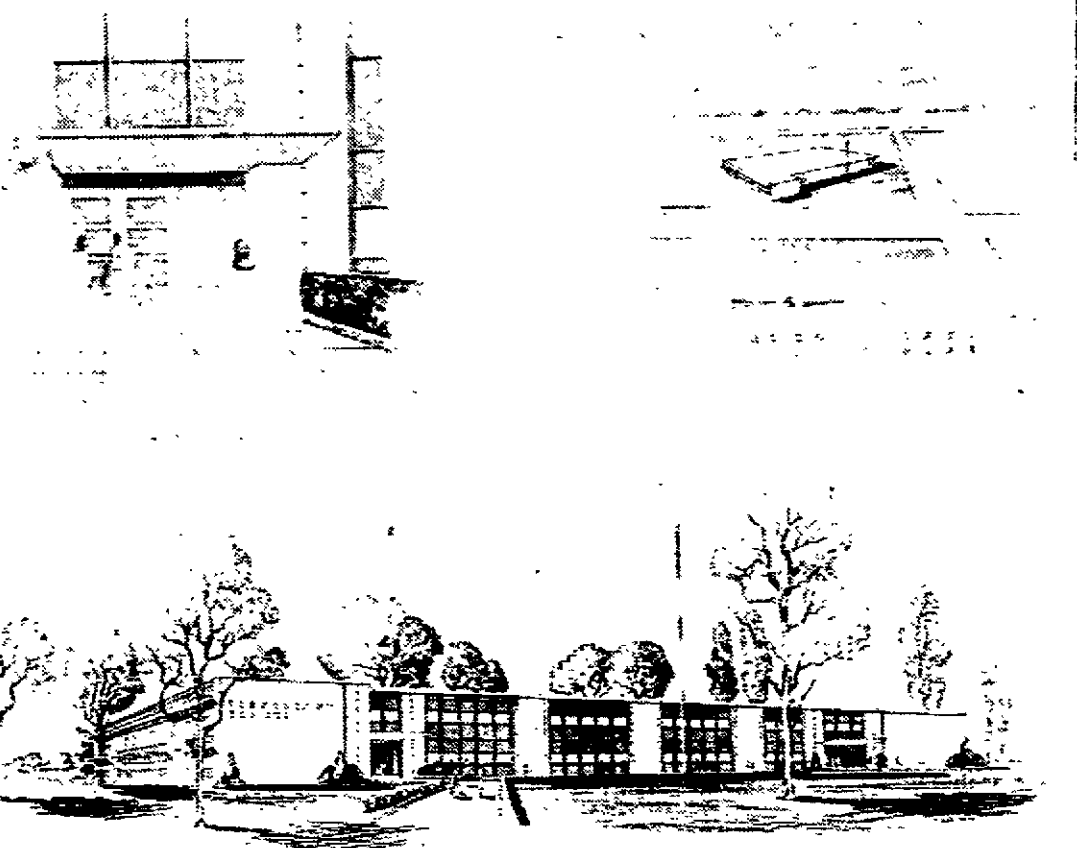

The Rev. Henry Simon of Faith Church will serve as moderator of tonight's session, which includes opportunity for audience participants to submit written, unsigned questions for discussion.

$300 Bond Ordered On Conduct Charge

OSHKOSH—Bond of $300 was ordered for George Williams, 33, 406 Northwestern Ave., Oshkosh, who this morning denied being drunk and disorderly.

According to police, Williams was found asleep in a tavern at 8:35 p. m. Tuesday and when awakened threatened to get a gun and shoot the policeman. Trial was set for May 21.

Appleton Grade School Low Bids Total $679,844

Sketch by Architect Raymond LeVee

This is how Architect Raymond LeVee visualizes Appleton's new southeast elementary school, which will cost $894,835. Contracts approved by the Board of Education Tuesday were $200,000 below estimated costs. Construction will start soon on the school, which will be placed at an angle on the site between extensions of Forest Street and Lourdes Drive. The school will be in use by September, 1963.

Street Paving Will Cost More Than City Budgeted

Appleton Either Must Reduce Program or Borrow Money

For the second year in a row, $251,995 for concrete paving leaves Appleton must reduce its street deficit in the fund of $103,964. Geiger's contract was not approved either, and will be discussed to complete the work scheduled.

The 1962 program will cost night.

The amounts for the Ballard City Clerk Elden Broehm told the board of public works Tuesday, asphalt paving do not include last year's paving program, such as hauling away the cost $74,000 more than appropriate old asphalt surface from Ballard area, and the city borrowed the Road when the new surface is in money so all the work could be stalled.

The board made no decision on what to do this year. It will hold Duszynski says it is impossible to a special meeting at 6:30 p.m. know exactly how much those today, an hour before the council tras will cost.

Duszynski repeated his request for a deadline to limit the latest date aldermen can request paving in their wards, to be done during the next construction season.

LeRoy Geiger, low bidder for the 1962 concrete paving contract, in his wards, to be done during the next construction season.

Last year when the city had to consent to a reduced amount of borrow money to complete the work at the unit prices he quoted, work, Duszynski asked for a Sept. His low bid is $251,995. There were 13 deadline for work to be done four other bids. The highest was the next year.

That way, he said, the engineering department can produce a budget appropriation request that ing both concrete and asphalt will cover all the work scheduled. Nearly $175,000 of that al-uded.

Repeats Request

Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski says it is impossible to a special meeting at 6:30 p.m. know exactly how much those today, an hour before the council tras will cost.

Duszynski repeated his request for a deadline to limit the latest date aldermen can request paving in their wards, to be done during the next construction season.

Last year when the city had to consent to a reduced amount of borrow money to complete the work at the unit prices he quoted, work, Duszynski asked for a Sept. His low bid is $251,995. There were 13 deadline for work to be done four other bids. The highest was the next year.

That way, he said, the engineering department can produce a budget appropriation request that ing both concrete and asphalt will cover all the work scheduled. Nearly $175,000 of that al-uded.

Now the engineering department must guess at how much complete last year's program work will be done. There is no must be repaid from this year's way of telling how much paving fund. That is the condition on aldermen will ask for, and they which the council approved borrow money can bring in their requests almost to the time that bids are taken.

List Submitted Late

Consequently, when the budget is set each November the complete list of streets to be paved the following year has not been submitted to the engineering department or to the council for approval.

Former Aid. Roy Pointer pre-dicted that the 1962 paving fund cost to pave Ballard Road would not cover the work to be Wisconsin Avenue to Northland done. He said a council agreed Avenue (U. S. 41). If the 1961 balance had been used to help repay the loan there would be $12,787 more to work with this year, reducing the deficit to $61,177.

Driver Fined $50 For Revocation

OSHKOSH—James R. Clark, 20, 1445 Manitowoc Road, Menasha, was fined $50 this morning by County Judge Arnold J. Cane for driving after revocation of his driver's license.

Sentencing on two other counts, having false evidence of registration and driving a car with no current registration, was adjourned until Aug. 8.

Clark was arrested at 4 p.m. Sunday by state police on Winnebago County Trunk BP. He pleaded guilty to all three counts Monday.

AAL Doctor Takes Des Moines Post

Dr. Roger E. Henning, 47, route 2, Menasha, Tuesday was appointed to a $15,000 post as health director for the Des Moines public school system. He will leave Appleton in June.

Dr. Henning fills vacancy left by the death of Dr. Lester Powell, A graduate of the University of Wisconsin and the Northwestern University Medical School, Dr. Henning has been health director for the Aif Association for Lutherans, a fraternal insurance society.

He previously was employed by the Equitable Reserve Association, Neenah.

Omro Driver Denies Not Having License

OSHKOSH—Milton Matson, 29, route 2, Omro, denied a charge of driving a car after revocation of his driver's license and Judge Arnold J. Cane set bond at $200 for trial Monday.

Matson was arrested early this morning on State 21 by county police. He was sitting in his car which was parked.

Total Cost of $894,835 for Southeast Building Under Estimate by $200,000

Appleton's new southeast elementary school will cost an estimated $894,835, some $200,000 less than anticipated.

The Board of Education Tuesday approved awarding contracts to low bidders for general construction, heating, plumbing and electrical work, and decided to ask the city council to bond for $385,000 for the school.

Construction costs will total $679,844. General contractor will be ton, which submitted a low bid of Theo. Utting and Son Inc., Apple- $457,759. Three other bids were submitted for general construction, with a high of $434,626.

The heating and ventilation contract will go to Towne, Inc., Little Chute, which submitted a low bid of $99,372. The eight other bids ran to a high of $109,880.

Azco Inc., Appleton, will receive the plumbing contract, with a bid of $49,000. Four other bids, with a high of $61,272, were submitted.

Electrical Contract

The electrical contract will be awarded to Ace Electric Co., Sheboygan, which bid $73,713. The high for the three other bids submitted was $85,625.

Other costs for the school include $49,791 as architect's fee, $130,850 for furnishings and equipment, $21,350 for site improvements, and a $22,000 contingency fund.

The estimated total cost had originally been $1,041,000, later raised to $1,100,000.

The bids will be sent to the city council tonight for approval and for authorization for the mayor and clerk to sign the contracts when the money is available.

If the council approves the contracts, the board hopes to have work started on the school within a week or two. The general contractor indicated he would need 10 to 11 months to complete construction. The school is planned for occupancy by September, 1963.

Easement Needed

Easement for the access road will have to be obtained before construction starts. The 10-acre school site is between extensions of Forest Street and Lourdes Drive (formerly Clara Street).

Architect Raymond LeVee said there is a possibility water will be available at the site by Sept. 1. The contractor must haul water until that date, as specified in the contract. If the water mains are not in by then, the board will have to pay for hauling it.

The board was surprised at the low bids. "You don't suppose they forgot the second floor?" one member quipped.

The southeast school is one classroom larger than Edison School, opened last September, but will cost less. The total cost for Edison was $925,000.

The school will have 17 classrooms, three kindergarten rooms, a speech room, a resource room, a library, gymnasium, all-purpose room, craft room, music room, the trial last Wednesday that he kitchen, offices, conference rooms, saw Boers and Brockhaus take a nurse's room and storage rooms, two paper cups, one inside the other, with an oily substance in it, and pour it along the tracks near a loaded boxcar.

Beloit College Sorority Suspension on Negro Pledging Concerns Lawrence, Where Issue Was Settled Quietly

BY JUDY DIXON
Post-Crescent Society Writer

The probationary action brought against a Beloit College sorority chapter brought an expression of concern from Lawrence College where the pledging of Negro students has been worked out quietly and individually by fraternities on the campus.

The national council of Delta Gamma sorority placed the Beloit College chapter on probation about two weeks ago, allegedly for the pledging of a Negro girl, Miss Patricia Hamilton, Madison.

Miss Phyllis Farnsworth, Nashville, Tenn., Beloit chapter president, admitted Sunday that the chapter was placed on probation by order of its national council. She declined to reveal the reasons.

Lawrence College reaction to the probationary measure expressed concern for the situation, commendation for the Beloit chapter's handling of the pledging and regret at the publicity.

Negro students have been at Lawrence for six years. Three fraternities, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Phi Kappa Tau, have pledged and activated Negro men. Each fraternity took the matter up with its national organization at the time it desired to pledge the Negro man and received approval from the national organization.

Working Quietly

The remaining three fraternities and the sorority chapters on the campus are working within their own organizations to resolve the matter quietly and with national approval.

"If it is true, I deplore the action heartily," stated Dr. Douglas Knight, president of Lawrence College. "Morally the action is deplorable. Politically, it is foolish."

Individual Problem

Knight emphasized that no destructive pressures should be brought to bear on any local sorority or fraternity chapter that is exercising its freedom of selecting members in a responsible manner.

"Every group has to deal with it itself," commented a representative of a fraternity that has an active Negro member. "Members must work it out among themselves, their alumni and collegiate chapters."

Another fraternity spokesman pointed out that the matter of pledging a Negro is felt to different degrees on many campuses. Publicity such as this is most damaging to chapters trying to resolve the problem slowly and responsibly, he said.

This attitude prevails throughout Lawrence College's six fraternities and six sororities. They are private organizations and it is their affair, they feel. They are very aware of and concerned with the matter.

Consideration for Student

The happiness and well being of the individual is of prime consideration to the college and Greek organizations, administrators and students think. The Inter-Fraternity Council, Pan-Hellenic Council and college officials are working quietly toward the acceptance of Negroes as the local chapters wish to pledge them.

A sorority president expressed relief at the publicity. "It has gained so much importance and attention in the last five years, that groups have to do something about it," she said.

Sororities indicated support of the Beloit chapter's pledging of Miss Hamilton. One sorority affiliate stated that in the same situation, her sorority probably would have acted as the Beloit sorority.

Commendation for Beloit

Another sorority active commended the Beloit chapter on its handling of the pledging. "They chose an outstanding girl, compatible with their interests, and thoroughly investigated her through proper channels," she stated.

She regretted pressures brought to bear on the sorority system by outside groups, such as legislative and private organizations and individuals not connected with the sorority system. "They want to destroy the basic right of people to exist in discretionary social groups," she said.

Kenoshans File $400,000 Suits

Pair Brings False Arrest, Assault, Battery Charges Against Winnebago Police

OSHKOSH — False arrest and assault and battery suits seeking payment totaling $400,000 were brought against three Winnebago county and one state law enforcement officials by two Kenoshans. Papers in the suit were filed in circuit court today.

Named as defendants are former Sheriff Charles Lowry, County Police Sgt. LeRoy Lutz, County Patrolman Walter Fuller and State Highway Patrolman Richard Cox.

The suits are brought by Arnold and Gay Stapleton of Kenosha.

Each is seeking $200,000 damages and $40,000 punitive or exemplary damages for false arrest and $200,000 damages and $40,000 punitive or exemplary damages for assault and battery.

In the complaint filed today with Clerk of Courts William O. Horne, the pair charged that their car was stopped on U.S. 41 near Winnebago County Park Jan. 2 at 2 p.m. on Sept. 11, 1960 by Fuller and Lutz in one car and Cox in another car. Both police cars were using their red flashing lights and sirens in stopping the vehicle.

Claim Handcuffing

The two Kenoshans said they were ordered to get out of their car and that they were handcuffed and forced to stand in full view of all passing motorists. They further state in their complaint that Fuller and Lutz searched their car and in doing so caused $7,000 damage to boxes of fruit that were in the car.

While Fuller and Lutz were searching the car, Cox stood guard with a drawn .38 caliber revolver, the two men contend. "The plaintiffs were each tormented

Science Fair To be Held in St. Mary's Gym

MENASHA — Members of the Advanced Science Program at St. Mary's High School will close their year's activities with a Science Fair and final meeting in the high school gymnasium at 7:45 p.m. today.

Parents of the science students will be special guests and 19 projects will be on display. These are in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a certificate.

Certificates will be awarded to 28 juniors and 16 seniors during this evening's program.

Speakers

Roger Christensen and Leo Moerson of Kimberly - Clark Corp. will speak on merchandising and the industrial aspects of foreign operations. A question and answer period will follow. Other speakers will be Rev. Joseph A. Becker, Ed and Graves and Robert Van Dyke.

The third issue of Science Seminar also will be distributed at this final meeting. This booklet contains student reports of individual tours made to view scientific processes. Also included in this issue will be a schedule of the year's program of speakers, list of industries which gave tours to the students and the names and work of the students.

Achievement Day Program Winnebago Rural Groups Celebrate Years of Service

OSHKOSH — Fifty years of the Judy Dies, assistant home agent Cooperative Extension Service in Winnebago County began in 1927 when a meeting was called by county county Agent Gustave Sell with homemakers at the annual achievement program. Tuesday evening at Oshkosh High School.

The kind of learning that gives zest to life was described by Mrs. Margaret Browne Madison, assistant director of the Home Economics Extension. Challenge yourself to keep up to date, to keep your minds open, and to appreciate the little things in life she advised.

Most adults want new learning in small segments, segments which can be put to use immediately, she said. "Be eager to learn new things and be willing to change your attitudes on people, places and things."

Family Economics

Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent, announced the coming year's program emphasis will be on family economics, stressing "consumer buymanship." A demonstration - talk on home sewing for a pleasing individual look, to be held June 1 in Fond du Lac, was announced by Miss

Electric Work Contract Goes To Superior

Board Reverses, Votes to Accept Low Bid for Sewage Plant

Superior Electric Co. Appleton became the low bidder and got the contract for electrical work at the sewage treatment plant expansion. This occurred when the board of public works reversed itself Tuesday and accepted two bids for which bid bonds were not on city forms.

By accepting Superior's low bid, the city will save about $8,000.

Last week the board turned down the bids from Superior Electric and Hedrich Construction Co., without reading them because the bids were not on city forms.

Hedrich bid on the general contract. It turned out to be the second low bid.

Could Waive

A Superior Electric official and the firm's attorney appeared at the board session Tuesday. They argued that filing the bond on a city form is an informality that the city can waive.

The attorney quoted a 1959 state law that gives municipalities 30 days in which to allow a bidder to submit a proper bond if a reasonable charges. He pointed out that there are "blue ribbon" policies available that provide for the care of a registered nurse at home or in the hospital, and said many to require the city form for particularly large projects like the treatment plant expansion, which will cost more than $1 1/2 million.

The board was told, also, that past boards never have made a decision one way or the other on the use of city form.

Motion Lost

One board member said he was against changing the customary procedure now. His motion to not read the rejected bids lost for lack of a second.

A motion to reconsider the rejections and waive the city form requirement passed six to one. A motion to read the bids passed by the same vote.

A city bid bond is standard on all large projects, a representative of Greeley and Hansen, Chicago, consultant engineers for the treatment plant expansion, said. That was the reason his firm incorporated the requirement in the plans and specifications book, he said.

Board members were told a week ago that a principal reason for requiring a city form is so that language will be same in all. Then the board doesn't have to read all the fine print to know exactly what protection the city is getting. Forms used by bonding companies differ in the technical language, the board was told.

Aldermen Warned Oshkosh Paper Chosen For Menasha Legal Ads

MENASHA — Against the advice of counsel, the Menasha common council Tuesday named the Oshkosh Northwestern the official city newspaper.

The Oshkosh newspaper received the approval by submitting a bid to Menasha that amounted to about one-third or less of its bid for Oshkosh city official advertising.

Losers was the Twin City News-Record official city paper since 1919, which presented the same bid as last year.

City Atty. Richard J. Steffens said that neither could qualify as an official newspaper since they are published elsewhere. "I advised the council can select any one. The losing paper would sue the council. This is a private fight between two newspapers."

Therefore I advise following the alternative provisions of the law," Steffens described the other legal means - posting all notices in two public places in each ward, including utility poles. He suggested the posting method to keep the city clear of any lawsuit into a declaratory judgment is obtained by the papers.

He said the city would save about $2,400 a year by not publishing in papers, as well as in legal costs for litigation.

Estimate 3 Months

Steffens estimated the declaratory court judgment would take 60 to 90 days.

Ald. William Erickson moved meaning of the laws and buoys, to hold the matter in abeyance

Bank Case Will Be Landmark, Steffens Says

Tuesday's Court Decision Reversed Ruling by Judge Arps

MENASHA — City Atty. Richard J. Steffens said the case of Scanlon vs. the City of Menasha and First National Bank of Menasha will become a "landmark" case of high importance.

The decision of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, announced Tuesday, reversed Circuit Judge H. F. Arps who last year ruled against former Mayor John Scanlon and approved sale of Racine Street Park to the bank, with the present bank building in partial payment.

Steffens read a June 1960 clipping of the Post-Crescent and chuckled as he recalled that other attorneys told him he would "eat those words." The story quoted Steffens as saying the city acted outside the law in the sale. He was not city attorney when the sale was attempted.

The case will be important because of the precedents set, the attorney believed. The high court's reversal came because the city council had not referred the transaction to the planning commission.

Bank Pres. K. C. Kimball to companies differ in the technical day had no comment on alternative plans.

City May Pay $500 Moving Expenses for New Police Chief

Menasha Police, Fire Commission Ask Extra Funds to Insure Top Candidates

MENASHA — The city may pay moving expenses up to $500 for its new police chief, the common council decided Tuesday by a 5-4 vote.

The police and fire commission asked the extra money in case such an item becomes a bargaining point with its top candidates.

Motion to approve was made by Ald. Richard Hansen, who said the council should approve the payment if the commission approves use of the $500 earlier designated for police training schools. Ald. William Erickson seconded. They and Ernest Koerner, Robert Probst, Robert Mielke and Julian Weisgerber voted in favor. Against were Fred Block, Morgan Eckrich, Louis Gamme, Donald Kemps, and Edward Stinski.

Eckrich said he first would "want to look into the character of the man who is your No. 1 choice. I'd like to look into what kind of a chief he is and also what side of the law he's on. He might be a crook."

Mayor John Klein assured him that after the testing procedures used there would be no such bad types.

Eckrich replied: "I wasn't implying he would be on the shady side. The exam will bring it out. But opinions might change and he might be the best cook."

Block wanted to know who had control over the money. Klein assured him the council kept control over all spending, except for schools, once the council has appropriated the money for operations.

Mielke called for "pride and faith in our departments. We should back up our commission, or else no cooperation."

Block warned that the new director of public works might insist the city pay his moving expenses here, too, if the police chief gets his expenses paid.

"Disappointed"

Hansen chided: "I'm disappointed with the council in general. It will approve a $540,000 job without 15 minutes' deliberation, but this $500 thing is around for hours. It's stupid."

Gamme barked back: "I resent being called stupid on this spending of taxpayers' money."

Block said he remembered "quibbling over a $135 typewriter, yet you would throw away money on something the taxpayers don't know anything of."

Share Prices Edge Higher Profit-Taking Cuts Into Rally On N. Y. Exchange

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's climactic rally continued today but ran into profit-taking which left the list only irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .90 at 247.90 with industrials up .30, rails up .90 and utilities up .30.

Some industrials weakened under profit-taking while rails and utilities maintained a fairly solid front of plus signs. Most of the major steels, motors and chemicals were down.

Tobaccos, airlines, drugs, and electrical equipments also remained generally higher. So were a number of volatile issues, including IBM.

IBM, Tuesday's most active stock when it first plummeted 24 points and then rebounded 32 to close with a net gain of 8 points, was one of 18 applicants.

Bids on Bonds To be Asked At Kaukauna

No Action on Change In Zoning Ordinance

Common Council Wants Both Oral, Written Quotations

KAUKAUNA — The common council Tuesday night voted to advertise for bids on $200,000 in bonds with which to finance an addition to the high school, bids to be both oral and written and to be filed with the city clerk by 1 p. m. May 22.

The council will hear oral bids first after which sealed written bids will be opened. Payment on the bond issue is to come due Feb. 1 each year for an 18-year period.

Plans call for $30,000 to be repaid each year from 1963 through 1965 after which the payment will be $35,000 for the next two years and then raised to $50,000 for the years 1968 and '69.

Make Plans

The city then plans on repaying $100,000 on the issue from 1970 to 1973 after which the repayments will be raised to $175,000 a year until 1976. Payments from 1977 through 1979 will be $200,000 and the final payment in 1980 will be $215,000.

Bonds are not callable in other than the year specified and the purchaser must bear the cost of providing and printing the bonds. Work on the school addition has already started.

As recommended by the finance committee, the assessor was authorized to hire temporary help to assist in completing the tax roll. Action on furnishing money to build a $100,000 addition to the Vocational School was deferred pending a study to be made by the auditor and Mayor Joseph Bayoregon.

Kaukauna Council Tables Matter After Home Owners Object to Office Building

KAUKAUNA — After considerable discussion on rezoning of two shopping zones, the common council Tuesday night voted to table the matter.

A rezoning request was made by Joseph Van Daalwyk who sought to construct a 42 by 300-foot, single story office building along State 55 across from land to be both oral and written and to be filed with the city clerk by 1 p. m. May 22.

The attorney for Van Daalwyk indicated the building would cost about $150,000, a fence would be provided to shut out the professional office building from surrounding property owners and the structure would readily blend into a residential neighborhood.

A petition was received from nine persons objecting to the rezoning. All of the signers own homes in the area and want to maintain the land as residential. Dallas Werner was spokesman for the objectors.

Not In Favor

Russell Dix, Fourth Ward alderman, indicated he had attended a University of Wisconsin Extension Course on zoning and had posed the requests to professors conducting the course. They did not favor rezoning, according to Dix.

Fifth Ward alderman Fred Reichel said he too had attended the session and he maintained the change would be illegal.

Dix said once the property was rezoned it could be used for anything. Donald Smetz, attorney for Van Daalwyk, suggested rezoning subject to council approval of building plans.

George Simon, Third Ward alderman, questioned the need for a planning commission if the council did not follow that unit's findings.

He indicated the commission had recommended rezoning on March 15. He asked the recommendation of the commission be approved with the understanding the council would review building plans. David Specht, Second Ward alderman, seconded the motion.

William Rogers, Fifth Ward alderman, moved to table the entire question. Simon noted his motion came first, but Rogers claimed his motion took precedence. As Mayor Joseph Bayoregon went for "Roberts Rules of Order," Simon conferred with his second and withdrew his motion, leaving Rogers free to have the question postponed.

Kimberly Pupils Prepare Display On 'Law Day'

KIMBERLY — Six students of the social problems class under the direction of Gilbert Frank at Kimberly High School have prepared a 15-foot long bulletin board display on Law Day.

The center of the board carried the term "Law Day, May 1," in red, white and blue letters. On either end of the board are large replicas of the United States Constitution and the Declaration of Independence. Scattered about the board are bulletins on law, articles from Law Journals, articles and pamphlets on citizenship and various other literature usually found in law offices.

Responsible for the exhibit were Karen Wundrow, Donna Dewey, Ann Waldenberg, Mary Flanagan, Mary Pat Ver Voort and Carol Wydevan.

Badger Girl and Badger Boy representatives have been named at Freedom High School. Carol Brochman is sponsored by Freedom State Bank and James Lemke by the village VFW.

Food Distributors To Discuss Laws

OSHKOSH — State laws and their effect on today's retail food industry in Wisconsin will be the subject of a talk by Lester A. Daron to members of the Wisconsin Food Distributors Association, meeting Saturday for their first quarterly meeting of 1962.

Daron has been secretary of the Wisconsin Independent Retail Grocers Association since 1957 and represents the group throughout the state.

After election of officers, the food distributors will hear a report concerning the merits, feasibility and adoption of a uniform coding system for perishable and semi-perishable foods.

The Wisconsin Food Distributors Association is comprised of major Wisconsin food manufacturers, food distributors and national manufacturers' representatives in the state.

Shell engineer uses stethoscope to help detect noise the ear alone can't hear. Super Shell fights three different engine noises to give you top performance.

How 3 of Super Shell's 9 ingredients fight engine noise—including one hard-to-hear form of knock that could lead to real damage

How Super Shell fights high-speed knock

High-speed knock makes a sharp, high-pitched noise—like metal tapping against metal. Because it's most likely to occur in hot engines at turnpike speeds, high-speed knock is often difficult to hear.

But even though you may not hear it, high-speed knock can pound away at pistons—even lead to costly damage.

Fortunately, high-speed knock isn't too common. But Shell scientists have known about it for a long time. Ever since they pioneered the development of a substance called Alkylate to help control high-speed knock in aircraft engines. Today, Alkylate is an ingredient in Super Shell gasoline.

How Super Shell fights wild ping

Wild ping doesn't last long. It sounds like the erratic beat of a nervous drummer.

How Super Shell fights ordinary knock

Most people have heard ordinary knock. It may sound to you like marbles dropping into an empty oil drum.

Super Shell's anti-knock mix is so powerful that a teaspoon per gallon is enough to raise anti-knock rating a full five points.

This anti-knock mix helps regulate the combustion of Super Shell. Thus, each piston gets a firm, even push. Not a sharp, jarring jolt.

Now, read how the other six ingredients in Super Shell's 9-ingredient blend help you get top performance.

How Super Shell's other ingredients help you get top performance

Cat-cracked gasoline helps your engine deliver smooth, even power.

Gum preventive helps keep carburetors clean inside.

Platformate is for extra mileage.

Butane is for quick starts.

Pentane mix is for fast warm-ups.

Anti-icer (added in cold weather) helps check carburetor icing.

Try a tankful of Super Shell today. Then, you'll know what top performance really is.
